PROGRESSIVE DEMOCRATS OF OHIO HOLD CONCLAVE

Admit They Are Opposed to Some of Mr. Harmon's Principles, But Deny Personal Hostility.

Columbus, O., Jan. 2.—Delegates to the conference of "progressive" democrats scheduled to open here at 2 p. m. today began to arrive this morning. Just what will be done by the delegates is a matter that is causing much speculation even among those who called the conference.

That the doctrines advocated by Gov. Judson Harmon will be condemned is the belief of former Congressman Lentz and others active in the movement, although they insist that Harmon will not be made an issue personally.

Will Endorse No Candidates.

No candidate will be endorsed for the democratic nomination for president at the present conference if the originators of the present movement can avert such a proceeding. Following in the footsteps of the "progressive" republicans, the democrats may, according to Lentz, give a personal endorsement to some one of the candidates mentioned in connection with the democratic nomination, but the conference as a body will not at present go on record as favoring any particular candidate.

"Progressive planks in the democratic platform is what this organization will endeavor to obtain," said Lentz today.

Will Spread the Movement.

"As soon as the permanent organization is formed and Ohio sufficiently covered the movement will be carried throughout the union. It has been stated that we are attacking Governor Harmon. This is untrue. Some of his ideas may not be in accord with the ideas of 'progressive' democratic leaders and other people interested in democracy, but upon Harmon personally no fight is being made. Harmon is but one man, while the idea of this movement is the object of having sent to the national democratic convention delegates who will nominate men standing for 'progressive' principles."

Want a Progressive.

"We will stand fwor a progressive candidate for the presidency," said W. W. Durbin, former member of the state board of managers of Kenton, who arrived with the advance guard of delegates.

Mr. Durbin, with H. A. Baird, of Kenton, and George Snyder, of Long Victory, opened headquarters and began a series of conferences with local democrats. There is every indication now that anti-Harrison resolutions will be adopted. It is a question, however, if the conference will endorse any specific candidate this afternoon.

INTER-STATE COMMERCE RULINGS

Commission Hands Down Decisions of Importance to Shippers.

Washington, Jan. 2.—It was held today by the inter-state commerce commission where two or more carriers are competing for business at equal rates between two points they should be allowed to continue the competition, despite the long and short haul provision of the law. This ruling, the commission explains, will enable competing carriers to meet the rates to a particular city or to a freight group made by any other competitor which may initiate a reduction "although discrimination against intermediate points may thereby be increased."

The commission may change rates on complaint of intermediate shippers if they are found to conflict with any other part of the law.

Inter-state carriers must conform to the long and short haul provision of the law in all instances where their freight tariffs provide for higher rates to intermediate points that are not consuming or producing points of the commodities shipped. General orders were issued by the inter-state commission today granting the carriers time until May 1, 1912, to enable them to comply with this requirement.

LA FOLLETTE HAS SOME BAD LUCK

Takes Wrong Train, Gets Lost and Loses Two Engagements.

HIS MICHIGAN TOUR

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 2.—Senator La Follette got on the wrong train at Saginaw today, taking the Pere Marquette for Howel and Detroit instead of the Michigan Central for Owosso. He may have to cancel both the Lansing and Owosso meetings scheduled for today.

THEY LOOKED FOR HIM.

Owosso, Mich., Jan. 2.—Senator La Follette, who boarded a Pere Marquette train at Saginaw today instead of the Michigan Central train for Owosso was expected to arrive here via Durand and the Grand Trunk in time to deliver an address at the Owosso opera house at the scheduled time, 10:30 a. m.

Later it was said that Senator La Follette left the Pere Marquette train at Holly and that efforts were being made to have a special train bring him to Owosso or at any rate take him to Lansing in time for the scheduled meeting this afternoon.

At 10:45 a. m. nothing had been heard from Senator LaFollette. He did not arrive on the Grand Trunk train on which he was expected. County Chairman W. H. Bigelow announced that the meeting would have to be cancelled and the crowd dispersed.

DR. SUN TAKES OATH AS FIRST PRESIDENT OF NEW CHINA

Given Warm Reception to Nanking, Capital of the Republic--Reforms Calendar as First Official Act.

Nanking, China, Jan. 2.—The first official act of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the president of the new Chinese republic, was to change the Chinese calendar. He made New Years the first day of his presidency, thus marking the commencement of a new era and making the Chinese year begin henceforth on the same day as the year begins in most other countries of the world. Accompanied by a numerous suite and protected by a strong body guard, Dr. Sun Yat Sen left Shanghai in a special train for Nanking. The trip was made without incident except for the enthusiasm of the greeting accorded to the new president at all the principal stations.

Given Warm Greeting.

Dr. Sun reached the new Chinese capital at half past 5 o'clock in the evening and was greeted with loud cheering. Many prominent men among the revolutionaries met him at the station and accompanied him to the government house, the route to which was lined by ten thousand soldiers. The whole town was be-flagged, the warships and merchant vessels along the river dressed ship and a presidential salute was fired from the guns of all forts in the vicinity.

Government house was reached at 7 o'clock. The gates, the inner avenues and the court yards surrounding it were decorated with myriads of multi-colored electric lights.

Dr. Sun, who was dressed in a khaki uniform, on his arrival held a reception, which was attended by governor generals and other high officials.

Dr. Sun Takes the Oath.

In the audience chamber an immense apartment in government house, delegates representing 18 provinces of China proper took up their positions around a raised platform. When Dr. Sun entered the apartment all bowed their heads. The president-elect proceeded to the central platform and there he took the oath of office. Afterwards he delivered an address in which he promised to dis-enthrone the Manchus, to re-establish peace, to promote trade, and to devote his entire energy to the Chinese nation and to aid the Chinese people to realize their aspirations. When the Manchus had finally abdicated and peace was restored to the nation, he would he said resign his provisional office.

The chairman of the delegates from the provinces then handed the new president the seal of office.

First Presidential Proclamation.

President Sun then delivered a lengthy address in the form of a proclamation. In this he announced that a strong central government would be organized, the entire administration system remodeled and modernized, and a parliament representative of the people be elected. The provinces, he said, would be autonomous as regards local affairs, and each would select its own governor. The army and navy would be made national institutions and be under the control of the central parliament which would also deal with the finances of the country. The whole fiscal system would be re-adjusted, but he was sure that the income of the country was sufficient to discharge its liabilities and to defray ordinary expenses.

After giving many details as to his program for the development of the

NOTHING TO SAY NOT ONE WORD

Colonel Roosevelt Pulls the Stopper Long Enough to Say He Won't Talk.

DECLINES TO DENY

New York, Jan. 2.—With a general refusal to "confirm or deny any rumor," Col. Theodore Roosevelt declined today to discuss a report that a movement was afoot in New Jersey to place his name on the presidential primary ballots. The former president was asked if he had been approached by any one of consequence or authority in New Jersey politics with a view to having his name placed on the ballots.

"That necessarily involves a definition of the phrase 'any one of consequence or authority,'" he replied. "I must decline to confirm or deny any reports or rumors of this sort."

"Have you taken any steps Colonel, to have your name removed from the primary ballots in Nebraska?" he was asked.

"I have taken no steps one way or the other."

"A dispatch from Washington says that you have made known to President Taft through a friend of your willingness to say that you will under no circumstances accept the nomination next June. Is this true?"

"I haven't seen the story," Col. Roosevelt answered. "I suppose I have been neglecting my education again. But I will say this: 'That when I have any announcement to make I will make it publicly. I will not discuss these rumors. I have nothing to say on anything. The peace banquet, with its strong arm squad preserving peace, presented an opportunity the other day—but I am not discussing rumors and reports."

"It is reported that you will have an important announcement to make at a dinner Friday night—"

"To electrify the situation?" interrupted the colonel. "No; I have no dinner engagement for Friday. I'm still not hungry."

"Gifford Pinchot is quoted this morning as saying that you have told him that you wouldn't accept the nomination although you thought you could be elected. Do you wish to deny this?"

"I haven't seen the statement," said Col. Roosevelt, but I'll wager he didn't make it. Three times within the past few weeks he has been misquoted. I wrote to him twice and found that he had not said what he was quoted as saying. So you see, I can't discuss it."

A. Slagle, sewer contractor at South Whitley, who is a frequent visitor to Fort Wayne, has left for a trip through the south.

A. V. McCalley, of Huntington, was a visitor in the city Monday.

WANTS LA FOLLETTE AND TAFT BOTH TO WITHDRAW

Gov. Osborn, of Michigan, in Speech to Introduce Wisconsin Leader, Yells for Roosevelt or Beveridge.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 2.—Gov. Chase S. Osborn in a statement here today proposes that President Taft and Senator La Follette both withdraw as presidential candidates in favor of Theodore Roosevelt or ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge. The governor had prepared a speech to this effect to be delivered in introducing Senator La Follette here. In view of the senator's missing his train this morning the governor authorized the use of the speech as a statement of his views. He added:

"As between Taft and La Follette I am for Taft."

Governor Osborn had criticised Senator La Follette as having "taken up those things which might be termed popular that contained the least danger to himself," and frankly said that he did not believe Senator La Follette can be nominated for the presidency or elected if nominated.

Does Not Like These Things.

Governor Osborn further said:

"The Senator La Follette style of campaign tends to arouse the passions of the people and make for a condition of public intolerance, which is always worse than personal or individual intolerance because it has so much more might as a force.

"In Senator La Follette's speeches and writings—and in this connection let me say that I have taken and enjoyed 'La Follette's Weekly' and I am a subscriber to it now—I do not think he distinguishes between honest men in big business and dishonest men.

"We have got to have big business in this country if we are to compete in the manufactures and transactions of the world. But big business should not be permitted to oppress the people.

Brewery Control Didn't Alarm Him.

"I have noticed also that while Senator LaFollette did great work in ridding Wisconsin of corrupt railroad domination he never said anything against brewery domination in that state. Really, as between the two, I should prefer railroad domination. However, it was good politics to fight the railroads in Wisconsin, but it would not have gotten Senator LaFollette anywhere prob-

PACKERS SOAKED THE VIOLATORS

Those Who Broke Agreement Assessed 40 Cents Per Hundred.

CONTROL OF MARKET

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Forty cents a hundred pounds was the penalty assessed against members of the old packers' pool who overshipped their allotment into any particular territory and the amount was distributed among the members discriminated against.

The amounts were paid by check every week immediately after the meetings at which the packers reviewed the shipments of the preceding week. This information regarding the inside workings of the pool in the period between 1893 and 1896 was given by Henry Veeder when he resumed his testimony in the trial of the ten Chicago packers before United States District Judge Carpenter today.

"Who presided at the meetings of the combination in those days?" asked Special Counsel Butler.

"Edward J. Martin, of Armour & Co."

Never Had a Name.

"What name was the combination known by?"

"I never heard any name used."

"What did you call these fines assessed against members because of overshipping?"

"I referred to them as collections and payments."

"Who represented the packers at these weekly meetings?"

"For Armour & Co., E. J. Martin and Arthur Meeker. W. D. Miles appeared most of the time for the Armour Pack-

LITTLE HERO DIES TO SAVE SISTER

Six-Year-Old Lad in New York Shields Younger Child from Fire.

THE GIRL WILL LIVE

New York, Jan. 2.—Louis Brown, a motherless boy of six years, lost his life in a fire early today because he stayed by the side of his four year old sister, Helen, and sheilded her from the smoke and flames.

A fireman, searching through the burning building, found the two children unconscious and clasped in each others arms beneath a bed. The boy had wrapped his jacket about the little girl's head to protect her.

She had tucked her head down on his breast and locked her arms about his waist. Helen's condition is serious. The children had been forgotten in the general scramble for safety.

DEMOCRATS IN FULL CONTROL.

Kentucky Legislature Meets, Facing a Reform Program.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 2.—With the democrats in complete control of both houses the first session of the Kentucky legislature in 1912 convened today. The democrats are pledged to legislation bringing about a more practical common school system, good roads, revision of th estate tax system, a non-partisan prison commission, the overthrow of the lobby, a direct primary tax and a corrupt practice act. Governor McCreary will not send his first message to the legislature for several days.

GRAND ROUND-UP OF DYNAMITERS

Startling Events Are Due in Indianapolis During the Week.

BURNS IS ON GROUND

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 2.—Wm. J. Burns arrived here today to testify before the federal grand jury in what is considered to be the final lap in the government's investigation of the alleged dynamiting conspiracy from which scores of explosions are supposed to have resulted throughout the country in recent years.

Tonight Mr. Burns expects to confer with United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller, Oscar Lawler, special government prosecutor in southern California, and District Attorney John D. Fredericks, of Los Angeles, the latter two being due to arrive here during the day. The announcement of Ortie E. McManigal's departure from Los Angeles for this city completes the gathering of the government's forces in building up its case against the alleged conspirators.

Expects Mass of Indictments.

Mr. Burns declared he would not be surprised if by the end of the week a mass of indictments would be returned and that while information as to the great majority of the persons against whom the investigation is aimed is already in possession of the authorities, an army of detectives still were at work in tracing the movements and activities of big labor leaders in the last two years.

Asked as to the rewards which were offered in California for the arrest and conviction of persons perpetrating the Los Angeles Times disaster, Mr. Burns expressed the belief that he would collect upward of $30,000. This sum, he added, however, he intended to divide among the many assistants who helped him run down the McNamaras.

Says Leader Will Pay Reward.

As to the reward of $7,500 offered by Olaf A. Tweitmoe, secretary-treasurer of the state building trades council, at the time of the Los Angeles Times ex-

WAS OFFERED A BRIBE BY MORSE

That is the Story Told by Warden of the Atlanta Federal Prison.

MADE IT IN STOCKS

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 2.—Warden W. M. Moyer of the federal penitentiary at Atlanta today made a formal statement declaring that Charles W. Morse, the convicted New York banker, had offered him what he construed as a bribe shortly after Morse became a prisoner in the institution. He said he refused it and so notified Attorney General Wickersham.

Moyer's statement was a sequel to the publication in a local paper that a congressional investigation into Morse's alleged bad treatment in the prison probably would be instituted.

Warden Moyer said he had given Morse permission on March 11, 1910, to send a cipher telegram to purchase some gas stock and that subsequently Morse had come into his office and said:

"Warden, I made $2.000 on that deal and I want you to have half of it."

The warden said he told Morse to forget he ever said anything like that and never to say such a thing again. He said he advised Attorney General Wickersham that he had permitted Morse to send the telegram.

It has developed that the department of justice made an investigation at the prison last spring. The result of the investigation is not known here.

BIG DEAL AT ELWOOD.

Elwood, Ind., Jan. 2.—The Elwood Electric Light and Power company has been taken over by the American Gas and Electric company with headquarters at Muncie. The price paid is said to have been $135,000. The American Gas and Electric company has plants in course of construction in Marion and Muncie and has a pipe line laid connecting Fairmount, Summittville, Alexandria, Gilman, Jonesboro and other cities enroute. Negotiations are also under way for the purchase of the Tipton natural gas, electric light and water power plants.

FIX LAFOLLETTE DATE.

Richmond, Ind., Jan. 2.—After much difficulty had been experienced in arranging definitely for the date the Senator La Follette will make an address in Richmond, it was announced today by the committee in charge that the progressive leader would be here next Saturday night and will speak in the Coliseum.

Morton A. Mergentheim, assistant city attorney of Chicago, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mergentheim, for a few days, returned home today.

HARRY WIEBKE IS HOST TO NEWSIES

Many Boys Attend Fourth Annual Banquet at the Hof Brau.

A GIFT FOR THE HOST

Harry Wiebke, proprietor of the Hof Brau cafe, played host Monday afternoon at his fourth annual New Year's banquet to the newsboys of Fort Wayne, and the newsies turned out in force to do justice to the repast provided for them and to pay homage to the host, who was once a newsboy himself and who experiences a keen pleasure in giving a big feed to the boys every year.

When the word went around this year that the annual dinner would take place as usual, the boys quietly planned a surprise for their host with which to show their appreciation for his many acts of kindness. When the boys assembled in the dining room Charles Phelps, president of the local newsboys' organization, presented Mr. Wiebke with a handsome brass desk set as a token of esteem from the boys. Following the presentation the main work of the day, namely, the clearing of the board of the turkey, cranberry sauce and numerous other delicacies provided for them, was commenced, and the newsies did ample justice to the dinner. Mr. Wiebke occupied the head of the table and Charles Phelps and R. F. Corcoran occupied places at his right and left.

The following is a list of the newsboys present at the dinner:

Herman Atkin, LaVerne Strodel, Felix Maier, Simon Maier, Karl Bauer, Bruno Bauer, V. Among other matters to come up is the report of the committee on the Barthold street bridge improvement, the consideration of a subway beneath the Nickel Plate tracks to connect Nebraska with the north side, the opening and extension of Fourth street from Clinton street to Spy Run avenue, and the proposed bridge over the St. Mary's at Harrison street.

The Bloomingdale citizens extend a cordial welcome to residents of other sections of the city who are interested in civic improvement to attend this meeting and participate in the proceedings. The meeting will open at 8 o'clock.

CHURCHES SWELL TOTALS OF 1911

Take Out Building Permits That Run Well Into the Thousands.

Figures compiled by Oscar Blaising, clerk to Building Inspector Phil Wyss, show an increase of five permits in 1911 as compared with 1910, and the estimated cost is $300,000 in excess of last year, due in a great measure to church improvements.

The congregation of St. Andrew's church took out a permit for a $50,000 church and a $25,000 school, and the congregation of the Precious Blood added $50,000 to its new church in course of construction. The Old National bank helped along with $35,000 in improvements.

There were 758 permits issued last year for a total of $1,920,310. In the list are included a number of dwellings that were put up in amounts ranging from $10,000 to $15,000 and a great advance is shown in home building.

The witness gave a detailed description of the method used in figuring the percentages to be shipped by each member into the different territories.

How It Was Done.

"What use was made of the margin sheets?"

"It showed the profit made in each particular market."

"Will you please illustrate?"

"Well, take Albany, N. Y., as an example. If the margin reports showed a loss in that market it indicated that territory was flooded. If the margins showed a profit it showed the supply was satisfactory."

"What action was taken by the pool to remedy the situation?"

"The supply to the different markets was regulated at the weekly meetings so as to get satisfactory results."

resources of China. President Sun referred to the relations of China with foreign countries. He expressed on behalf of the new republic the feeling of thankfulness that prevailed at the consistent neutrality of the foreign nations. He said that the anti-foreign feeling which had previously existed would not appear in the new China.

WILL CONTINUE THE WAR.

Peking, Jan. 2.—The empress dowager, who is desirous of carrying out a campaign against the revolutionaries, today advanced three million taels (about $2,000,000) to Premier Yuan Shi Kai for that purpose. There are many indications that the northern troops are anxious to resume hostilities.

Washington, Jan. 2.—The famous Danbury hat case in which the supreme cour tof the United States held that a labor union might be liable under the Sherman anti-trust law for boycotting an article of interstate commerce, today reached the supreme court of the United States for the second time. After the court in its first decision, members of the United Hatters of North America were held liable to hat manufacturers of Danbury, Conn., for $23,000 damages found to have been suffered. The second circuit court of appeals directed a new trial. Attorneys for the hatters asked the supreme court to review this action.

TWO STATES FEEL EARTH TREMORS

Cities in Illinois and Wisconsin Shaken by Earth Shocks.

NO DAMAGE IS DONE

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Northern Illinois for two tiers of counties today experienced earth tremors which varied in intensity from a scarcely perceptible oscillation to a distant shock which threw bric-a-brac and dishes from shelves and tables. Southern Wisconsin also felt the "quake," Kenosha reporting a distinct movement which caused a hurried investigation to determine whether another pleasant prairie powder mill explosion had occurred.

PLACES REPORTING SHOCK.

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 2.—An earth shock was felt here at 10:30 this morning, dishes were broken and doors thrown open. A giant gasoline tank in the Fox River Packing company's plant blew up at the same time and added to the fright of the people. Many women fled into the streets carrying children in their arms.

Dixon, Ill., Jan. 2.—A slight earth tremor supposed to have been an earthquake was felt north of this city at 10:15 a. m. today. The shock was felt at Rockford, Ill., at 10:18 a. m. and at the same time was noticed at Elgin, Ill., were dishes and other objects were thrown from shelves in stores and homes.

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 2.—A slight earth shock was felt in Kenosha at 10:30 this morning. Buildings were rocked and small articles broken in some of the houses, but the loss was not serious.

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 2.—A slight earthquake was reported from various parts of the city at 10:13 a. m. today. The tremor was also felt at Winnebago, near here.

ably if he had fought the brewery-owned saloons.

"What I wish to make clear about this statement is that the senator has taken up those things which might be termed popular and that contained the least danger to himself. Now this may be entirely unfair, but I have thought it and do think it still, and I wish to say it to you and to him, face to face."

In conclusion the governor said:

"I hope Senator LaFollette may be retained in the United States senate during his entire life time. If he is made president his influence will be over in eight years, even if he is elected for a second term. If he stays in the senate he will be on the fighting line for a quarter of a century yet. I do not believe he can be nominated for the presidency. I do not believe that he can be elected if he is nominated.

Would Have Both Withdraw.

"If he is really interested in progressive republicanism and in the welfare of the republican party, I propose that he withdraw as a candidate, join me in asking President Taft to withdraw and then permit the party to settle upon Albert J. Beveridge or Theodore Roosevelt as a candidate for president. I will go with him to either man. This will calm the conditions in the party, supply a candidate who has the respect and confidence of the people, insure an administration that will present a front to the enemy that will be invincible.

"And now, fellow citizens of Michigan, I have real pleasure in introducing Senator Robert M. LaFollette, candidate for the republican nomination for president, who in my opinion is not as bad as his enemies say he is, nor as good as he says he is."

WILL MAKE NO COMMENT.

Holly, Mich., Jan. 2.—"Senator LaFollette will make no comment on Governor Osborn's statement given out from Lansing. Why should he?" said Secretary Hannan, of Senator LaFollette's staff, this afternoon, when asked if the senator would give out a statement.

Today's Owosso engagement had already been cancelled, according to Mr. Hannan, and there was little probability that the senator would be able to reach Lansing, though he was expected to visit both these cities on a later visit to Michigan. Senator LaFollette will speak in Grand Rapids tonight and will close his present Michigan tour in Kalamazoo tomorrow morning.

LORIMER MAN DIES.

Sterling, Ill., Jan. 2.—Johnson Lawrence, member of the 46th general assembly of Illinois and one of those whose votes elected Wm. Lorimer to a seat in the United States senate died today at his home at Polo, Ill., of heart disease. His death added a third to the list of legislators whose names received attention in the bribery investigation into the Lorimer election and he, like Jonas Clark, of Vandalia, and Michael Link, of Morris, both of whom are dead, was a witness before the senatorial investigating committee.

LAUNDRY WORKERS STRIKE.

New York, Jan. 2.—Some two thousand or more laundry workers went on strike today for increased wages and a nine-hour working day and the employers say that before they will give in New York will have to wash its own clothes or buy new linen. Employes in fifty steam and hand laundries were affected. The union leaders say that the non-union men joined with the union workers in striking. Some laundries declared a lockout, saying that the increas demanded would make business so expensive that it would fail to pay. Not all the laundries were affected by the strike order.

Old Ones Are Not Satisfactory and Will Be Rejected.

STORK'S RECORD IS MUCH BETTER

More Births Reported to Department Than There Were Last Year.

DEATH RATE IS LOWER

Figures taken from the records in the city health office indicate that the stork made a better record in Fort Wayne last year than he did in 1910, as there were 1,302 births reported to the health department against 978 last year.

The difference does not represent the increase it indicates because the law is more stringent than it was in 1910, and physicians are morediligent about reporting births that come under their care. The death rate was not as high by thirteen, the figures for last year being 852.

The contagious disease records show diphtheria, 153 cases and twelve deaths; scarlet fever, 134, deaths seven; typhoid fever, 51, deaths reported, ten; smallpox thirteen, and no deaths; tuberculosis thirty-six and fifty-nine deaths. This discrepancy is due to the fact that the cases were not reported under the old law.

For 1910 the record was—Typhoid fever, seventy-four and eight deaths; scarlet fever, 161, no record of deaths; smallpox, eighteen, and no deaths; diphtheria, ninety-five and six deaths, and tuberculosis, three cases reported.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 2.—With both feet frozen and almost famished, Mrs. Clara Sommers, a young woman of Pittsburg, Kansas, clad in male attire and accompanied by her husband, Enoch Sommers, was arrested in the railroad yards here today. Since leaving Kansas the husband had worked in a number of small northern Indiana towns, but had not made a success and decided to return west. The couple had not eaten for two days and the woman's feet are in such a condition that one may have to be amputated. She said she dressed in man's clothing so that she could better accompany her husband and "beat" her way home on freight trains.

ENTERS A PLEA OF NOT GUILTY

Pellon Wants a Lawyer or He Will Defend Himself.

IN FEDERAL CHARGE

William Pellon, alias Joseph Pierron, captured at Antwerp, Ohio, some time ago, on a charge of having robbed the postoffice at Harlan, this county, entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before United States Commissioner Logan Tuesday morning. Furthermore, he declared that he either wanted a lawyer or the privilege of defending himself.

Commissioner Logan told the prisoner that he had no power to appoint an attorney in his behalf, but that his right to appear as his own counsel was undenied. Pellon told the officers that he hadn't a cent of money, and announced his intention of conducting his own case.

Pellon has been in jail in this city since his arrest, following the robbery at Harlan on December 11, and he was surrendered to the federal officers today on a warrant issued when Postoffice Inspector W. B. Piatt filed an affidavit charging him with having broken into the Harlan postoffice building with intent to commit larceny. The hearing was set for next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the prisoner went back to jail in default of $500 bond.

Following the robbery, in which a considerable sum in stamps and a small sum in cash was secured, Pellon was captured near Antwerp, O., by Elwood Reichelderfer, Mayor E. K. Terwilliger and Mr. Wait, of Antwerp, and a portion of the booty recovered. The prisoner has admitted to Sheriff Reichelderfer that he has done time in prisons at Jackson and Ionia, Mich.

REPORT SHOWS A NEED OF GIRLS

Two Hundred Applications Made at the Local Office.

NOT YET COMPLETED

If further evidence that there is a shortage of the girl crop is needed than can be obtained from the hundreds of housewives seeking female help it will be found in the report of the local branch of the state labor bureau.

This report had not been fully completed this afternoon by Louis S. C. Schroeder and John Wessel, jr., his assistant, were working hard on it today with the determination of completing it before closing time. It shows that there were just 200 applications for female help from June 8, when the branch was established, until the first of the present year. One hundred and fifty-nine females applied for positions and seventy-four were placed, but the others found positions of their own accord and without much trouble. Every one of them could have been given employment through the office.

Nine hundred and eleven males were given employment through the branch out of 1,351 applicants for places. There were 1,038 requests for help received. It has been found that a great many applicants ask for work and after leaving their addresses and the kind of work desired go out and obtain it on their own hook and practically every person who did not accomplish this was given employment.

The records of the six months indicate the need of an employment office where there is no charge either to persons seeking help or in want of employment.

TOWN'S AFFAIRS IN GOOD HANDS

Annual Reports Show Monroeville to Be in Excellent Financial Condition.

Monroeville, Ind., Jan. 2.—The board of town trustees met in special session yesterday to receive the report of Town Clerk J. J. Peters, who audited the accounts of the little city, and which shows that Monroeville's affairs have been in good hands. Monroeville is one of the few towns of fewer than 1,000 people that operates successfully its own electric lighting plant.

The lighting plant maintains an 11 and 12 o'clock service at a cost to the consumer of 7 cents per kilowatt, running practically on meter rate. After deducting the expense of the plant from the receipts, exclusive of the levy of 60 cents for paying the bonds, it cost the town $4,009.09 to light the streets for the past year, or practically $45.42 for each arc lamp. The report shows that the cost of fuel was $1,456.48, the management $840, and repairs $796,68, while the receipts were $2,084.07.

Monroeville's assessed valuation is $336,790, and this year it will have a tax levy of 90 cents on each $100 valuation. The bonded indebtedness of the civil town is as follows: One municipal bond of $300, due Jan. 1, 1912; one sewer bond of $90.65, due Jan. 30, 1912; one municipal bond of $300, due Jan. 1, 1913; one sewer bond of $90.65, due Jan. 30, 1913; one sewer bond of $90.65, due Jan. 30, 1914; one sewer bond of $90.65, due Jan. 30, 1915. OHIO ELECTRIC ENJOINED.

Van Wert, Ohio, Jan. 2.—Judge Matthias, at the session of the court of common pleas has handed down his opinion in the case of the city of Van Wert vs. the Ohio Electric company. This suit was brought by the city to compel the Electric company to cease using Main street in front of the depot, as a storage room for trucks, baggage, etc., and the intersection of Main and Market streets, which is occupied by a spur track, as a loading station for freight. The city contended that the traction company had no right to obstruct the streets by unloading and loading freight and that such use constitutes a menace to the public. The court upheld these contentions in the main, though he held that the city could not impose conditions that would impair the rights of the company under the charter granted by the state, nor could the corporation use the streets in a way to interfere with the rights of the public. The evidence was carefully reviewed, and tended to show that the defendant was using the most prominent and public places in the city, and that the cars, trucks and drays used in the handling of freight did interfere with the rights of the public, and consequently, an injunction was granted, as prayed for by the plaintiff, to become effective in ten days.

SALARY GOES TO WOMAN.

Widow of Kingsland Wreck Victim to Get Auditor's Stipend.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 2.—While under the official change which occurred Monday L. A. Williamson will be known as auditor of Wells county, he will not give his time to the office, but will place Clem T. Kain in charge as his chief deputy, and in effect Mr. Kain will serve as auditor. All revenues from the office above salary of deputies and office expenses will be paid to Mrs. Helen Robinson, widow of Seymour H. Robinson. Her husband was one of the victims of the Kingsland traction wreck of September 21, 1910, and at the time he was candidate for county auditor on the democratic ticket. The democrats proceeded to place Mr. Williamson on the ticket to fill the vacancy caused by Robinson's death, with the understanding that the net proceeds from the office go to the widow. Mrs. Robinson will be a deputy under Mr. Kain. The latter quit a good position as a field examiner to accept the place here.

DELPHOS NOW A CITY.

Ohio Town Has Risen to New Municipal Dignity.

Delphos, Ohio, Jan. 2.—Delphos is now officially a city.

With the dawn of the first day of January this staid old habitation of more than 5,000 of the best people on earth has assumed new honors.

Of course, it has been known since the result of the 1910 census was announced, that Delphos is a city, but it has been only unofficially recognized as such until January 1, 1912.

The joyous acclaim that welcomed the New Year this time had a double meaning for Delphos and Delphos people—it heralded the fact that this goodly place of abode has doffed the swaddling clothes of a village and is now a full-fledged city.

J. K. Williams has the honor of being the first mayor of the city of Delphos. The office of marshal is abolished and the chief of police takes his place.

JUDGE ELLIOTT DEAD.

Swayzee Jurist Sat in Famous Krauss Case at Marion.

Hartford City, Ind., Jan. 2.—Patrick H. Elliott, former judge of the Grant and Delaware counties superior court, who sat as trial judge in the famous Krauss divorce case, which was heard at Marion, is dead at his country home near Swayzee. He was 54 years old and is survived by a wife, five sons and four daughters. His aged parents, three sisters and two brothers also are living. Funeral services were held today from the Christian church in charge of the Masonic fraternity.

Judge Elliott attracted some attention by his most unusual action in the trial of the Krauss divorce suit in March, 1910, when he called a jury to sit in an advisory capacity to decide a number of questions of fact involved in the complaint of the plaintiff and the cross bill of the defendant wife.

For twenty-five years the firm of King, McNamee & Hipskind has been in existence. For thirty-two years Wilbur McNamee has been connected with the hardware establishment and for forty-three years Philip W. Hipskind has been affiliated with the firm, but only as a partner for a quarter of a century.

MAY SURVIVE WOUNDS.

Albion, Ind., Jan. 2.—Porter Huston, the young man who was accidentally shot Friday evening with a revolver, is reported to be getting along as well as could be expected and hopes for his recovery are now entertained. DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

Warsaw, Ind., Jan. 2.—Mrs. Daniel Plew, a well-known resident of Dutchtown, 55 years of age, dropped dead on Sunday evening, death being due to apoplexy. ANTWERP NEWS.

Mrs. Rachel Banks went to Paulding Saturday, where she will visit during this week, the guest of her brothers, Ed and Charles, and their families.

The farmers' institute held here Friday and Saturday was quite largely attended considering the bad weather, and the lectures given were very instructive, especially the one on "mail order buying," in which the speaker recommended mail order buying. Let the home merchant carry the customer on his books for six months to a year, then when the crop is harvested "chop him off," if the customer has money; then send to the mail order house the money that is justly due the home merchant—even if all accounts are paid.

William Walker and wife, former old-time residents of this place but for a number of years residents of Pullman, Ill., were renewing old acquaintances here the past week, returning home Saturday.

J. E. Shaffer, of Cincinnati, O., has taken a position in the blacksmith shop of J. L. Johnson at this place.

In the reorganization of the village council for the ensuing year only one change is noticeable. John Poulson, a faithful member for a number of years, retires, and James Sexton takes the place made vacant. The roll call will be Carr, Graves, Murphy, Sexton, Harris, Smith, with W. P. Reed as mayor—the first democratic mayor in a number of years. With the exception of marshal and appointees of the mayor, all the balance that are on the pay roll of the village are republican.

Large quantities of corn are now being marketed at the elevators here. A great deal of it is crib corn, which is in excellent condition. A good many loads of beets are also coming in, and with oats and other produce being marketed, the streets present quite an animated appearance.

The new year was ushered in at this place in a very quiet manner, no ringing of bells or other discordant sounds breaking the stillness of the midnight hour.

The supper given by the ladies of St. Mary's Catholic church Monday evening was largely attended, and was very enjoyable as well as satisfactory in a financial way.

THE OHIO PROGRESSIVES.

That the fight against the renomination of President Taft is not a sham battle purposed by the insurgents and progressives to save their faces is disclosed by the action of the anti-Taft elements of the republican party in Ohio. They have held a convention, completed an organization and adopted resolutions and a declaration of principles. They have refused to commit themselves to the LaFollette candidacy, demanding merely the defeat of Taft and the nomination of a "progressive republican for president, recognizing as fellow progressives all who hold the principles for which we stand, whether they be for the presidential nomination of Robert M. LaFollette, or Theodore Roosevelt, or any other progressive republican." Endorsement of LaFollette was resisted by Gifford Pinchot and James R. Garfield, who were firm in their belief that the thing to do was not promote candidacies, but to keep the progressive movement and principles uppermost and forward.

The main direct upshot of this convention will be a fight to take from President Taft the delegates of his own state. Doubtless, in the present split and disorganized condition of the republican party in Ohio, it will be possible to split the delegation and force some serious embarrassments upon the Taft crowd in the convention. The moral effect of the example set by the president's own state will be damaging to his cause in other states and the number of split delegations and the aggregate of progressive and insurgent delegates in the national convention are likely to be such as to make a lively fight inescapable.

That the prevention of an endorsement of LaFollette is in the interest of Colonel Roosevelt will be hard to conceal, notwithstanding the disclaimers of Pinchot and Garfield. The progressives want to win their first point by defeating Taft for renomination. They hope to win their second and greater point by naming a candidate who can be elected. LaFollette's candidacy does not project either possibility with much distinctness. In Roosevelt there is seen the possibility of both. The developments of the next few weeks ought to give outline and form to the now rather vague shadow of what many believe to be the political recrudescence of The Colonel.

William Howard Taft is not the only aspiring son of the great Buckeye presidential nursery who is having trouble in his own political household. Right on the heels of the progressive republican convention called to take steps for the resistance of Taft's renomination comes a progressive democratic convention summoned to forward measures to defeat the presidential nomination of Governor Harmon. Very evidently progressiveness has the great Ohio electorate by the ears. Favorite sons must be something more and something better than favorite sons. It is a good omen, even if the favorite sons do not deserve all that is said of them. It shows an awakening of that spirit which eventually will restore the government fully to the people.

Fort Wayne still has three hundred and sixty-five days of Nineteen Twelve in which to write the record of the greatest year of civic and municipal advancement the city has ever recorded. The plans are big, they contemplate what ought to be done, the people seem to have the spirit of the undertaking and all that is needed is the resolve to go ahead, provide the means and begin the doing. It is a splendid scheme of improvement that is afoot and a year's labor will achieve wonders. The stage is about reached when talk must be translated into activity of another sort if all the cherished plans are not to evaporate into the viewless air.

A mighty good resolution for Fort Wayne to make is that before the end of the year steps shall be taken to insure a sane manner of dealing with the garbage problem to the end that cleanliness may be promoted and the sinful and silly waste of a valuable product may cease. The council is on record as condemning the present system and as resolving "that another year shall not pass without making provision in the tax levy." Keep it on record. Make it make good.

If Senator LaFollette should fail to get the republican nomination for president he at least will have the consolation of knowing that he did a lot of hard work for the man who does—provided of course that it is not given to a rotund and jolly fine gentleman who hails from Ohio and lives in the white house.

To complete a very worthy trinity of reforms the sane New Year's eve propaganda should be added to the movement for a sane Fourth and a sane Christmas. Fort Wayne was "let off easy" this time, but accounts from the outside tell a story neither so happy nor so creditable.

Either Mr. Taggart is in a very uncertain state of mind as to whom he will elect democratic state chairman or a great volume of Indianapolis newspaper dope of a worthless brand is getting into circulation.

China's new president announces establishment of the Chinese New York upon the first of January. That is interesting, but it will not help the new republic much where help will do the most good.

THE GREATEST WOMAN

(Winifred Black in New York American.)

The twenty greatest women in the world. It is interesting to read the different things people think about them, isn't it?

Now, the greatest women I ever knew never got into that list of all. And yet it has been my good fortune to know about seven out of twenty of the women in ever list I have seen published.

The greatest woman I ever knew was a country school teacher. And she was many things besides.

She was a minister's wife, and she was an invalid, and she and the minister were poor, and they had a family to bring up, so the minister's wife opened a little school in the little village where I lived, and we all went to it—all the queer, little, half-formed, half-savage creatures we called children in those days out there in that little village.

The minister's wife did her own housework, and often and often I have seen her leave a class in Latin and run into the kitchen to see if the beans were drying out or if the graham bread was ready to set.

And she taught Greek to such of us as could learn it, and mathematics and history, ancient and modern, and the beginning of French, and a little of German—and, most of all, she taught us a love of learning.

She read to us "The Lady of the Lake," "Ivanhoe," "Marmion." I can see her great blue eyes now, when she came to an especially thrilling part; and she taught us to love poetry, and to appreciate fine prose, and she made us scorn the things that were low and hate things that were evil, and she loved and mothered such of us as were motherless, and she scolded such of us as were worldly, and she encouraged such of us as had ambition, and always she held in her delicate, tremulous hand the flag of honor and courage and loyalty and taught us to know its colors and to love them.

And all the time she was dying, and we never knew it.

She had a cancer of the breast, and day after day she stood and taught us, and was patient and gentle and kind, and the dreadful agony must have been eating her very heart out, and we never knew. Her own family never knew til lthe end was almost there.

She had a little party for us all once, a plain little party in a plain little house, but there were nuts and raisins to eat, and, oh, the stories she told us, that great-souled woman, and the games she taught us to play, and the way she laughed and made merry, and all the time the agony tore at her very life, and she smiled and never spoke of it!

And she made her children's dresses, too, and dressed their dolls for them, and knit mittens for them at Christmas, and when any one in the little village was in trouble there was the greatest woman I ever knew at the house of sorrow—first.

A foolish girl paid for her folly in miserable disgrace, and when she came home from the city humiliated and broken-hearted, it was the greatest woman I ever knew who met her at the train and held her in her arms and said, so that all might hear, "Welcome home, my dear; we've missed you."

No scandal where she was, no cruel telling of cruel tales, no mean envies, no small triumphs among those she governed and knew so well.

It was glorious to do some little kindness and reap the reward of seeing the pride in the eyes of the one who taught us to do such things.

Poor, struggling, not beautiful to look upon until you knew her, the greatest woman I ever knew, and when she died the whole village cried, and the poor young fellow who was trying to lift himself from the mire of hereditary humiliation came and brought a wreath of wild flowers for her grave, and then it was that we first knew that it was she who had encouraged and helped him to study late at night when none but her own family could know.

And the town drunkard brought a knot of old-fashioned "pineys" and begged to lay them on the coffin. "She knew how hard I tried," he said.

And the little girl from the family we all called "queer" walked three miles in from the farm to sing at the funeral. She would have come, she said, if she had had to crawl on her hands and knees. "She understood my mother," said the girl. "No one else ever did."

Dead and buried in a low grave in a little country churchyard, the best woman I ever knew and the greatest.

There are many of the same stripe right here in this country of ours. I wonder if we half appreciate them, we who make out lists of "great women" with a cold-hearted courtesan and a shallow mime—to lead the names?

GREAT-GRANDSON OF KING REPORTER

Scion of Prussian Royalty Son of Wilhelm II. by Morgantic Wife.

A MILWAUKEE SCRIBE

Milwaukee, Jan. 2.—The ravings of a sick man in his delirium have solved the mystery of German royalty in the identification of Paul Atzpodien, a Milwaukee German newspaper man, as Count Karl Friedrich Leopold von Brandenburg, who disappeared a quarter of a century ago from Germany, where he was recognized as the great-grandson, by a morganatic marriage, of William H. Until his delirium disclosed his secret few beyond his wife and a few close friends knew of it. He had left it hidden, while relatives abroad had given him up for dead.

Renewed attention was called to the lost Count von Brandenburg last summer when his twin sister, Princess Josephine de Radziwill, died in Paris of injuries sustained while mountain-climbing in the Alps. Her history is given by genealogists as follows:

"She was the only great-granddaughter of King Frederick William II, brother of Frederick the Great of Prussia, and his morganatic wife, the Countess of Doenhoff. Her father contracted in his younger years a secret marriage with a Russian woman of great beauty. For her sake he left the Protestant faith and became a member of the orthodox church. When his father, Count Frederick von Brandenburg, became aware of the fact and threatened to disown him, he at once left his wife, who had just given birth to twins, a boy and a girl. Of the whereabout of the former, who grew up to manhood, nothing is known."

It is this missing brother, now heir to a fortune of 1,000,000 marks (about $250,000), who has been found here, a reporter on a German daily. He kept his secret until taken ill two weeks ago. He was sent to a hospital, where, in his delirium, he at times spoke of Josephine. Answering questions in his delirium, he disclosed the mystery of his identity. Finally friends learned of it, but their efforts to get his wife to make public his identity were futile until the story had been printed here without her consent, and was later denied by the newspaper on which he was employed.

The denial angered the wife, and she then produced the proofs that she w married to him at Lincoln, Neb., ten years ago, under his true name, and that only the officials who filed the papers ever saw that the name on record there was not the name under which he was commonly known. She also produced a photograph of Princess Radziwill and Count von Brandenburg, taken when the twins were about five years old. The only duplicate of this photograph is in the possession of the German secret service. She likewise produced documentary evidence of her husband's identity.

Preparations will be made to claim the German inheritance, which is from an aunt of the count. She left a large part of her estate to the twins, who had been deserted by their father at the behest of his parents.

The count ran away from home when seventeen years of age because he feared punishment on account of black marks in the private school he was attending. Waiting until only the servants were in his home, he borrowed a little money from one of them, collected his belongings and fled to America, taking the name of Atzpodien. From New York he wandered west and was for a time a butcher's errand boy in Cleveland. Later he worked in a factory in Cincinnati, and next became a grocery clerk at Chicago. He drifted to Galveston, where the cowboy fever struck him, and he spent two years herding cattle on the plains. Eventually he reached Milwaukee and became a newspaper reporter.

About ten years ago he was sent to Lincoln, Neb., where he was given some special work by a newspaper whose Milwaukee correspondent he had become, and while there fell sick. The nurse who cared for him in the hospital became his bride when he recovered, and they came to Milwaukee.

The Quickest Cough Cure Cheap, But Unequaled

A Whole Pint of It for 50c. Saves You $2. Does the Work Quickly or Money Refunded.

For quick and positive results, the pint of cough syrup that you make with a 50-cent bottle of Pinex, cannot be equalled. It takes hold instantly and will usually stop the most obstinate deep-seated cough inside of 24 hours. Even croup and whooping cough yield to it quickly.

The user of Pinex mixes it with home-made sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint—a family supply—of better cough remedy than you could buy ready mixed for $2.50. Easily prepared in 5 minutes—full directions in package.

Pinex soothes and heals the inflamed membranes with remarkable rapidity. It stimulates the appetite, is slightly laxative, and tastes good—children like it. Excellent for hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, and other throat troubles, and has a wonderful record in cases of incipient lung trouble.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of Norway White Pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Simply mix with sugar syrup or strained honey, in a pint bottle, and it is ready for use. Used in more homes in the United States and Canada than any other cough remedy.

Pinex has often been imitated, but never successfully, for nothing else will produce the same results. The genuine is guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. Certificates of guarantee is wrapped in each package. Your druggist has Pinex or will gladly get it for you.

DON'T BE UNREASONABLE

If You Neglect the Care of the Scalp You Should Not Expect Beautiful Hair.

The hair is more exposed and hence more liable to accumulate dust and dirt than any other portion of the body.

In spite of this the hair receives, as a rule, the least attention and no real effort is made to keep it healthy.

If the dandruff germ is allowed to work unmolested and the scalp becomes crusted with dirt acumulations, one may expect the hair to die and fall out. There is no cause for surprise in this phenomenon; it is natural and happens in every instance where the care of the hair and scalp is overlooked.

The one sure remedy which prevents the loss of hair and permits a healthy, luxuriant growth is found in Newbro's Herpicide.

The dandruff germ cannot live on a head to which Herpicide is regularly applied. The germ dies. The hair ceases to fall. The terrible itching stops almost instantly.

That is what Newbro's Herpicide does.

One dollar size bottles are sold and guaranteed by all druggists.

Men Who Helped to Make America

A Distinguished Legal Leader

WHEN Chief Justice Oliver Ellsworth, of the Supreme Court of the United States was a young lawyer in his native Connecticut, he walked ten miles every day for three years to practice law in Hartford, and his income from that practice was something less than fifteen dollars a year.

The winning of a difficult case brought the young lawyer into prominence, and a large and lucrative practice resulted. He moved into Hartford and became the leading judicial figure in the State.

Ellsworth was born in Windsor, Connecticut, April 29, 1745. His boyhood was spent on his father's farm. At the age of seventeen he went to Yale and after two years there went to Princeton, where he graduated in 1766.

OLIVER ELLSWORTH
LATE CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE UNITED STATES

His father intended him for the ministry, but the young man preferred the law, and after further studies was admitted to the Bar in 1771. Before beginning his practice Ellsworth cut enough lumber to pay the debts incurred in the pursuit of his education, floated it down the river to Hartford and began his career free of debt.

In 1775 he was a member of the General Assembly which met a few days after the battle of Lexington. Two years later he was elected to Congress, which he attended at intervals during six years, serving brilliantly on several committees.

In the formation of the new government he was a leading spirit. He was known as the "Cerberus of the Treasury," and later accepted with modesty and self-distrust the appointment of Chief Justice of the United States, discharging the onerous duties of the position with dignity, efficiency and disinterestedness. He was Envoy Extraordinary to France and later a member of the Board of Fellows of Yale College. He died November 26, 1807.

MISSION ENTERS ON NEW WORK

Opening of the Men's Rescue Home at 1217 Calhoun Street.

ENLARGED QUARTERS

The formal opening of the Men's Rescue home in connection with the Gospel mission at 1217 Calhoun street, under the general management of Rev. T. P. Potts took place last evening with services held in the chapel, following which the public was given the opportunity of inspecting the building and many availed themselves of this privilege.

Heretofore only a gospel mission was conducted at this location, the lower business room being used for this purpose. Recently the entire building was leased, extensive repairs made and now both stories and the basement are used, the added quarters being for the conduct of the rescue home. This enables the mission to give sleeping accommodations and boarding to the needy men thrown under their helping Christian care. It is a great work and will lead to the redemption of many fallen men—men who are down and out—by placing them under uplifting influences.

REV. T. PLINY POTTS,
General Superintendent Gospel Mission and Rescue Home.

The building as reconstructed on its interior arrangement has heretofore been described in these columns. On the first floor back of the chapel there is a dormitory provided with nearly a score of cots for the men seeking sleeping accommodations and in the basement are the bath rooms, while on the second floor are four sleeping rooms with one and two beds each, the dining room, the kitchen and the living apartments of the Rescue home manager, E. H. Sage, and his wife, who will reside in the building and give its management their entire time.

Rev. Mr. Potts will remain in general charge of the mission and home, and give it his supervision. It was through his efforts that the mission was started a few years ago and he has been the leading spirit in the establishment of the rescue home. Mr. and Mrs. Sage have charge of the home. They are experienced in the work and under their management it will be a success and accomplish great good in Fort Wayne.

The system provided for the extension of help to men who are in need of it is one that will commend itself. It is of a nature that does not encourage idleness or the begging spirit. Its aim is to tide men over their misfortune or errors by extending them the practical helping hand—the hand that would lift them up out of their fallen condition, give them new hope and courage and assist them into right ways of living. It is a system of charity that has stood the test of experience and it has been found to work for great good. Many men in this big world today owe their redemption to just the sort of a rescue home that the Rev. Mr. Potts, by his efforts, has succeeded in establishing at 1217 Calhoun street.

MISSION EVANGELIST.

Melvin E. Trotter, Famous Orator, Will Speak in This City.

Melvin E. Trotter, superintendent of the Rescue mission at Grand Rapids, Mich., one ofthe most prominent mission workers of the country, will speak one evening during the last week of this month at the Fort Wayne Rescue Home and Mission in this city. While at Grand Rapids last Friday, where he delivered an address that evening, Supt. J. A. Nipper, of the mission in this city, received this assurance from Supt. Trotter. The exact date, however, has not been arranged. Mr. Trotter is a most effective platform speaker and will be greeted with a large audience when he speaks at the mission in this city.

The meeting held last evening at the misison was of an interesting character and well attended. Supt. Nipper is aiming to give these evangelistic meetings at the mission a different trend from what they have been. Instead of being entirely for the men who are down and out and whose reformation is sought, he desires it to be understood that they are for the public generally, men and women, and that all of them will be made interesting. He is making other changes that will advance the work of the mission. Since he took charge the home has done great work. For the month of December 502 men were sheltered; 50 were given work at other places and 45 furnished work at the mission. Not including the Christmas distribution, there were distributed during the month of December 203 garments and groceries to the amount of $3. Donations received were 304 garments, 111 cans of fruit and other articles. The devotional meetings held during December were attended by 2,917 persons. The mission is in need of clothing and it is always thankfully received.

GRAND WIND-UP OF DYNAMITERS

plosion and withdrawn when the McNamaras were arrested. Mr. Burns said he was quite confident that the California labor leader would pay the reward without any trouble. The indictment of Tveitmoe, himself, last week by the federal grand jury at Los Angeles, Mr. Burns thought, would make sufficient legal trouble for Tveitmoe at present, without having on his hands a civil suit on a question of reward with reference to a crime which James B. McNamar already had confessed.

Expect Triple Alliance.

The collaboration of United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller here with Oscar Lawler, special government prosecutor in southern California, and District Attorney John D. Fredericks, of Los Angeles county, California, who prosecuted the McNamara brothers—a triple alliance specially sought by the department of justice in unravelling the alleged dynamiting conspiracy of county-wide extent—was expected before night fall today to be an accomplished fact.

While Mr. Lawler helped District Attorney Fredericks prepare his case before the McNamaras confessed and later Mr. Fredericks reciprocated by turning over evidence that is supposed to have enabled Mr. Lawler, as special government prosecutor, to draw the indictments returned on Saturday last by the federal grand jury at Los Angeles, both these men had planned to lend a hand to United States District Attorney Miller here in what is now conceded to be the pivotal work of the government's inquiry.

McManigal Will Aid.

Ortie E. McManigal's arrival here within two or three days, timed to follow close upon the coming of the two California prosecutors, is taken to mean that the latter will assist Mr. Miller in assembling the voluminous confessions of McManigal, which are supposed to have laid the foundation of the indictments returned by the federal grand jury in Los Angeles last week against coast labor leaders. But McManigal's confessions, it is predicted, will be of greater use here than on the coast, because of the numerous easterners which he is thought to implicate. Upon the length of time he is kept before the federal grand jury it is believed will also hinge to a large extent the number of persons who will be involved in the government's probe. Lengthy testimony from McManigal, it is said, will mean a flood of indictments carrying with them scores of persons conspicuous, as well as inconspicuous, in the labor world.

Know McManigal's Story.

Fredericks and Lawler have McManigal's confession at their finger tips so that their presence here will expedite his examination. Fredericks having intended in preparing his case against the McNamaras to cite the circumstances of numerous explosions at points wherein recent years labor warfare prevailed as proof of the existence of a big conspiracy, is expected to be able, with Lawler, to marshal for District Attorney Miller much of the information which was not revealed in Los Angeles on account of the confessions of the McNamaras.

Developments are looked for here constantly throughout the week. When McManigal arrives he will be under special guard, not that the authorities fear his escape, but the possibility of foul play from those against whom he has been testifying.

BOWERS GETS IN BAD WITH JUDGE

Says He Aggravated His Father-in-Law by Sitting on Wife's Lap.

TEN DAYS IN JAIL

Earl Bowers is one of the few men who owes his troubles to the fact that he sat upon his wife's lap and caressed her, if the story he told Judge Mungovan in the city court today is true. Just how much of the story the judge believed he didn't say, but he fined Bowers $10 and costs and gave him ten days in jail for assault and battery on George W. Reader.

Reader says that he asked Bowers not to make so much noise and Bowers resented it by knocking him down. Reader is 62 years old and father-in-law to the man who assaulted him. The old man had some pretty bad wounds to show the day after he was injured.

Bowers story is that he was out hunting and when he came home he sat down on his wife's lap and was talking and laughing when Reader objected and called him bad names and he retaliated by giving him a licking.

Henry Schuster was fined $100 and costs for obtaining money by false pretenses. He will serve a hundred days in jail or pay the fine. He gave W. D. Oetting a worthless check for $15 drawn on the Hamilton National bank and owes his troubles to excessive drinking.

A case of assault and battery against Robert Treece was dismissed. Albert Corbat, the complaining witness, has moved away from the city and there was nobody to prosecute the case.

Extra Wednesday, Lyric, "Pride of Lexington."

Prizes were won by Misses Nettie Klipert and Inez Stahl. A delicious luncheon was served. Miss Stahl will be the next hostess. Other members are Frances and Beulah Lopshire, Josephine Whittles, Estella Pape, Hazel Rowe and Mrs. Minnie Armstrong.

Miss Marie McMullen was hostess for two pretty holiday parties, one of New Year's evening and another last evening. The rooms were decorated in holiday colors and festoons of red hearts contrasted with portieres and festoons of green in all the rooms. In the diningroom the lights were shaded in red and vases of immortelles and holly were effective and pretty decorations of the table. An out of town guest was Frank McCally, of Huntington.

Hoffman—Knight.

Very beautiful were the nuptials of Miss Mary Louise Knight and Mr. Frederick Evans Hoffman which took place at 5 o'clock on New Year's afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charles Stuart Knight, in Spy Run avenue. Over one hundred relatives and family friends gathered to witness the marriage ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Dr. D. W. Moffat, pastor emeritus of the First Presbyterian church of this city, and a lifelong friend of both the bride and groom. The house presented an exceedingly attractive appearance in its wedding dress of quantities of southern smilax, Easter lilies, Killarney roses and white hyacinths. When two small nephews of the bride, Stuart and Frederick Peters, appeared stretching wide gauze ribbons as a pathway for the bridal party, Young's mandolin orchestra struck up the bridal music from "Lohengrin." The bride was attended by two sisters, Mrs. Allen Hamilton as matron of honor and Miss Alice Knight as bridesmaid, and Mr. Hoffman by Mr. Alfred Kilmer, of New York. Mrs. Hamilton wore her wedding gown of white satin made with tunic of embroidered net pearls and trimmed with rich lace that lent elegance and distinction to the costume. In her hair the matron of honor wore a band of pearls and an aigrette and she wore a necklace of seed pearls, the gift of the bride. Miss Alice Knight looked very attractive in a lovely girlish gown of white chiffon over white charmeuse satin. A wide band of embroidery done in gold beads outlined the hem of the tunic and a cluster of pink roses at the waist line added a beautiful bit of color to the costume. On her head the bridesmaid wore a cap of gold lace with pink rosebuds for its decoration. Both Mrs. Hamilton and Miss Knight carried large bouquets of pink roses and stevia. The bride came down stairs with her brother, Mr. Willard Knight. She presented a lovely appearance. Her gown of shimmering charmeuse made with short train of newest fashion had a short tunic of chiffon that was embroidered in elaborate pattern with crystal and pearl beads and a flower design in silk. The waist was trimmed with rose point lace, very handsome in arrangement though made on simple lines. The bride wore a veil of tulle gathered in a cap of lace to match that on her gown and trimmed with orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley and orchids. During the ceremony the orchestra played the Wagnerian opera selection, "Evening Star," and later Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" overture. During the marriage service and while receiving congratulations the bride and groom stood in the living room on the north side of the house and in front of tall wicker baskets filled with white lilies. On the mantel back of the bride and groom burned white candles and more lilies added to the enchantment of the decorations. Branches of southern smilax hung everywhere that it could be used to decorate, in the doorways, over mantels and on the walls. In the reception room Mrs. Knight received the guests assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Ely Hoffman and the bridegroom's sisters, Miss Hoffman and Miss Emily Hoffman. The decorations of this room were lilies and smilax. On the south side of the house the rooms were in color. Pink roses and white hyacinths were used in profusion. The chandeliers were hung with plumosus and smilax in the new shower effect and over the bride's table in the dining room pink roses and tulle ribbons were mingled with the green. The bride's table displayed the same color scheme. A large bowl of pink roses, hyacinths and stevia stood in the center of the table. On either side of the center stood a tall colonial vase filled with flowers and white tulle was draped gracefully from the center around the table. The appointments were rich and elegant and distinctly new. Two tall gilt baskets of art design with tall handles were filled, one with salted nuts and the other with confections of pink rose leaves flavored with mint, and passed to the guests. The handles were tied with stevia and tulle ribbons. Individual cakes of unique shape and dainty frosting were served and the ice cream was served on pink and white holders, a confection known as "spun" candy and made to be eaten. Favors at the bride's table were bouquets of artificial French flowers, pink roses in design, made in lace holders, also colonial in pattern. Every detail was of beauty and refined taste. Later in the evening the bride and groom left for New York and will sail on Saturday for Italy to take the Mediterranean trip on the "Cornnia," Cunard line. For traveling the bride wore a suit of fine English serge, blue in color, with trimmings of black silk braid and Persian lamb. The bride's hat was exceedingly stylish of blue antique satin with large pompom effect of gray gora feathers. She wore Persian lamb furs and her ornament both with her wedding gown and suit was a pendant of platinum with large single pearl, the gift of her brother, Willard. The bride and groom will be at home in the Knight residence after March 18. Out of town guests present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Keller, Mr. Allen Nelson and Miss Elizabeth Wilson, all of Logansport; Mr. and Mrs. John Mulfeld, of Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. Mary Arrowsmith and Mr. Richard Arrowsmith, of Hicksville, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Shirk, of Peru. The decorations of the wedding were in charge of Miss Flick and the catering was done by Mrs. Schumaker.

A Country Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Eyrick, who live north of the city, entertained a company of intimate friends on Friday evening in honor of their guests, Allen E. Welch, a talented young musician of Chicago, and Miss Marguerite Deiniger, of Donavan, Ill. A delightful time was enjoyed and a beautiful program of piano and vocal music was rendered by Mr. Welch. Miss Deiniger, George Thorpe and Fred Henschen. There were present Misses Louise Henschen, Clara Schowe, Anna Waters, Sophia Schoun, Anna Henschen, Clara Henschen and Messrs. Fred Henschen, Grover Thorp, Ray Schoaff, Lester Schowe, Edwin Schowe, Edward Henderson, Adam Waters, Ernest Eyrick, Maxwell Bartrum, Elmer Eyrick, Jack Eyrick. Mrs. Bartrum assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

Seslar—Smart.

Rev. J. W. McCartney, pastor of the West Creighton Avenue Church of Christ, officiated on New Year's day at the wedding of Mis Grace A Smart, of 1159 West Main street, and Mr. Thomas H. Seslar, an employe of the Nickel Plate railroad. The wedding guests included a few near friends and family relatives. The bride and groom have gone directly to housekeeping.

Clauson—Withers.

Mr. Charles Clauson, of this city, was married on Saturday to Miss Bertha Withers, of Columbia City, by Rev. L. L. Shaffer, of that place. Mr. Clauson is employed at the Fort Wayne Electric works and after a few days will bring his bride to this city to live. The bridegroom's relatives live in Columbia City.

Platt—Brown.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Brown and Mr. Lloyd Platt, both of Bluffton, were married on New Year's day at the home of the bride in Wells county, by Rev. E. B. Brown, of Churubusco. Miss Margaret Elick and Mr. Herschel Wickliff, both of Union township, Wells county were the attendants. After the fourteenth of January the bride and groom will be at home in this city in Lincoln avenue. Mr. Platt is a bookkeeper at the Fort Wayne Electric works.

APRONS FOR MISTRESS AND MAID.

The maid's apron must be correct, according to certain conventional forms. It is in fact a uniform. The mistress of the home may wear an apron too if she pleases, but her apron by its daintiness and individuality should show its difference from the maid's badge of service. The correct type of apron for a parlor maid or waitress—a neat affair of dotted swiss with shoulder straps of embroidery—is pictured. With it over a dark mohair or wool frock the maid wears snowy cuffs and collar band. The pretty lace and lawn aprons with ribbon trimmings for the housewife are quite different in type.

FROM JOHN WANAMAKER

MILLINERY MODES.

One of the new model hats consists of a band of green velvet, from which hangs a deep gold fringe, carried across the head, so much to the front that the gold fringe almost touches the brow. One end of the velvet droops on the left side, concealing the ear, and is edged with gold fringe. Caps of lace almost hiding the hair take their place with rest gowns, and suit quite a young face wonderfully.

THE DAWN OF THE YEAR.

(Written for The Sentinel.)

As the moments shorter are grown
And Time goes fleeting by;
As here I sit and muse alone
With but a tear in the eye.

Strange meories seal the dying year
Sweet voices of the Long Ago;
Soft voices in the gloom I hear
Their accents sweet and low.

With clearer gaze we view the past
The joy of by-gone days;
A turning point we reach at last
And better be our erring ways.

Forgotten be the tears we shed
Asleep on the slope of Time;
Come! disturb not the holy dead
Sip not old Sorrow's wine.

Hushed be the sigh of vain regret
And calm the sea of doubt;
Time will but teach us to forget
And clouds turn inside out.

So let us brave the rage of storms
Throughout the New-Born Year;
Still following those celestial forms
That beckon and elude us here.

Safe from the storm of human fate
From vapid care and scorn;
Ah! let us fold our hands and wait
The Dawn of New-Year Morn.

THEATER MUFFS.

Mme. Pauline Menard, a Parisian modiste, is responsible for the idea of the theater muff—a fad that engulfed Paris last season and that has made its appearance here, much to the delight of women who are at a loss to know what to do with their hands when they are not employed in some definite way.

These muffs, of tulle, chiffon and mousseline de soie, lend a certain grace to the costume, and they are very easy to make at home.

A lining of satin is first made, fourteen inches long and ten inches wide, doubled; then the covering of filmy material is sewed to the outside.

All sorts of methods are employed in putting on the outer covering.

One lovely model of pink tulle over a lining of white satin has the tulle put in rows of puffs, with fine shirring in between each puff. The ends are finished with six-inch-wide frills of tulle, joining the foundation with a row of tiny satin rosebuds in tones of pink.

A muff of silver net is made over a lining of brilliant blue satin, has silver lace frills on the end and is ornamented on the outside with a bow of silver-tissue ribbon held in place with a jeweled button.

Still another lovely model is of violet mousseline de soie over a deeper shade of purple satin.

The mousseline is laid on in fine thread tucks in the center. Four inches from each end it is shirred in rows one inch apart, and the ends are finished with garlands of artificial violets. A large bunch of these blossoms are pinned to the left side of the muff and are scented as the natural blooms. Some of the muffs have a straight top edge and curve on the lower edge, which is finished with ruffles of lace or chiffon.

With a little thought, a few yards of net, chiffon, tulle, one yard of satin and perhaps a few artificial flowers, you can make yourself one of these dainty accessories to match any costume you have.

BEAUTIFUL EYES AND THE CARE OF THEM

If the eyes are the windows of the soul, they are no less the torchlight of beauty. Clear, bright, wide-awake eyes, aglow with the spark of mirth and gleaming with the spark of vitality transform the plainest face into a picture of radiant beauty. Dull lustreless eyes dim the most bounteous of nature's gifts.

Attempting to improve the condition of the eyes by the aid of drugs and lotions is an extremely dangerous practice. These aides are only to be employed under the direction of a physician or some one with more than a passing knowledge of drugs. Sore and inflamed eyes, of course, require medical attention.

To make the most of the charms at hand is every woman's privilege. So it is that, if her eyes are pretty but small, she may adopt harmless means to improve their appearance. One of the best ways to accomplish this is to hold the eyes always wide open. Do not allow the lids to droop. This practice, conscious at first, will gradually develop into a habit and eventually the lids and muscles of the eyes will naturally assume this new position.

Long lashes give the eyes a mysterious depth, at the same time causing them to appear much larger than they really are. This is the result of the becoming shadows cast by long lashes, the shadows responsible for that haunting charm rightly called "dreamy." While strenuous attempts to cultivate long curved lashes are often provocative of exactly opposite results, not to mention weakened sight, there are a few perfectly simple remedies which, when rightly applied, merely encourage the growth.

Quite the most effective of these is a nightly application of a strictly pure vaseline. Heat a little of the vaseline in a dish until it is tepid (not hot) and apply it to the roots of the lashes with a tiny soft bristled brush. Be careful not to get any of the vaseline into the eye if you can help it, though it is by no means dangerous. Gently massage the roots with the tip of the finger and allow the vaseline to remain on over night.

In the morning wash the remaining moisture away with warm water and bathe the eyes with a lukewarm solution made by dissolving a one-half of a teaspoonful of boracic acid in a basin of water. An eye cup is excellent for this purpose. Nothing so benefits and strengthens the eyes as this mild bath. They are sure to be brighter, clearer and better in every way. Besides, the solution causes those same fascinating purple shadows so many women draw about their eyes with an eye pencil.

The next time your eyes are tired or aching try the boracic bath. It is especially good when one is going out to an evening affair—a time, above all others, for the charm of radiant eyes.

Hot water applications are excellent for tired eyes, providing they are followed by two or three cold applications to prevent the skin from becoming flabby and lined. The shock of the cold water restores vigor and causes the muscles and skin to become firm.

No woman fully cognizant of the value of beautiful eyes will subject them to constant strain. She will never take up her embroidery frame or her sewing under the evening light. She will not read or sew at dusk or in a dim light, nor will she make a practice of reading while in a reclining position.

If her eyes are inclined to be weak, she will eschew fine sewing altogether, knowing that however dainty the garment it can never equal the attractiveness of radiant eyes.

Keep the eyes from strain, rest them when tired, bathe them mildly—these are among the most vital of nature's beauty secrets for bright eyes.

RECIPES.

Fried Apple Sauce.

Quarter, core and pare the apples. In a thick skillet slowly cook a large teaspoonful of butter until it is a pale brown. Pack in the apples, drop a half spoonful of butter in bits over the top, cover closely and place somewhat to one side of the fire that the cooking may not be too fast. When the apples are fairly tender sprinkle over them as much sugar as you think will make them fairly sweet, but do not stir. When done turn carefully into a serving dish and send hot to the table with a pitcher of cream.

Cranberry Roly-Poly.

A rather short biscuit dough is rolled out half an inch thick and spread with a layer of chopped cranberries and granulated sugar. This is rolled up, lain on a buttered plate, steamed for forty minutes, then placed in the oven for ten minutes to dry off. With this roly-poly either hard or soft sauce may be served.

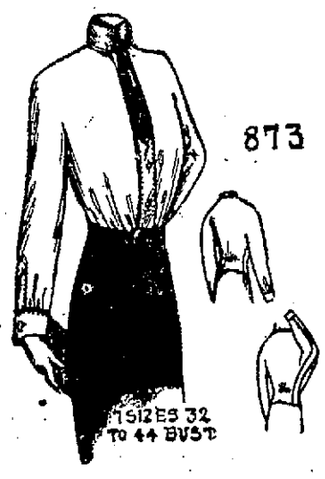
WAIST MADE IN ONE HOUR.

By Mrs. Jane Ford.



THE smartest tub waists of the season are developed in materials that have considerable body—such as pique, percale and madras. Corded effects in these weaves are particularly favored, and look well in the plain models that are popular. The shirt waist shown by the drawing is designed with a view to economy of time in making as well as in material, and it can be cut out and completely finished in less than one hour. The body and sleeves are cut in one, and to assure perfect comfort and to prevent its tearing under the arm, a straight piece is set in the full length of the sleeve and waist.

To complete this waist in the shortest time possible all the parts must be cut out before commencing to baste. The fronts are then finished according to the directions on the pattern label and the underarm seams joined. The cuffs and neck band are put on in the regular way, and the buttonholes worked. A fairly good sized flat pearl button should be used.

To copy the waist for the average person requires only two yards of thirty-six inch material.

(Cupon used as label on envelops. Cut neatly.)

TWO HOPES OPEN UP THE BIDDERS

Coffroth and O'Rourke Cut Purse Strings to Get Palzer and Flynn.

NEW YORK FAVORED

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 2.—Al Palzer and Jim Flynn have opened up the bidders in the fight game and Jim Coffroth, of San Francisco, and Tom O'Rourke are both out with offers for a match between the big fellows.

This is probably what Jack Curley was looking for when he came east, although his ostensible purpose was to get Jack Johnson to agree to meet his man in the west. He kept his bid $10,000 lower than Johnson's figures and probably knew his offer would not be accepted at $20,000.

O'Rourke has made a flattering offer for a fight between the two men and assures Curley that a short bout in New York would pay better than a long one on the coast, and this will have its influence in determining the matter.

CONLEY BADLY BEATEN.

Mexican Had Him Helpless on Ropes at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Jan. 2.—Frankie Conley was knocked out for the first time in his career, was beaten into state of helplessness by Joe Rivers in the eleventh round of the New Year's day battle at Los Angeles.

Rivers beat Conley to the ropes in the eleventh and with a shower of full strength rights and lefts he sent him half over the top rope, the latter gripping his conqueror in a clinch as he bent backward. Referee Eyton separated the men. Seeing that Conley was decisively beaten, the referee looked toward Frankie's corner, expecting the sponge to be tossed in, but none came.

Like a flash Rivers jumped toward the helpless Conley with another fusillade of blows. One of these was an awful right drive on the chin and with its delivery every ounce of fight was beaten out of Conley's body.

DILLON STOPS LEO HOUCK.

Pittsburg Boxer Refuses to Continue After Round Six.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 2.—Jack Dillon practically knocked out Leo Houck, of Lancaster, Pa., in six rounds of terrific fighting and shattered the eastern man's middleweight championship aspiration. Dillon clearly demonstrated his superiority from the start. In the sixth round Houck was all but knocked out.

BRONSON IN A DRAW.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 2.—Ten fast rounds between Ray Bronson, of Indianapolis, and Tommy Devlin of Philadelphia, ended in a draw. Marvin Hart refereed.

The fight was staged at the Tri-Cities Athletic club in Jeffersonville, Ind. A big crowd of spectators faced disappointment after the preliminary bout, because Devlin declared he could not see his way clear to fight for the amount said to have been called for in his contract.

The dilemma was bridged when a Louisville advertiser put up the necessary $100 to "fatten" Devlin's purse.

BOTH ON EVEN TERMS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 2.—Matty Baldwin, of Boston, and Tommy Langdon fought a corking draw here. Joe Hefferman won a slugging bee from Joe Sherman. Tommy Sullivan beat Jack McCarren.

DOUBLE PENNANT SEASON IN 1912

Ed Smith Suggests That It Would Be Aid to Baseball.

CARSON AGAINST IT

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 2.—Twelve clubs and a double pennant system is suggested by Manager Ed Smith, of the Grand Rapids team, who is spending the winter months here.

He believes that a longer schedule with the season cut half in two and a post season series between the winners of the two championships would help baseball.

Dr. Frank R. Carson, president of the Central league does not like the idea and is strongly against a longer season, believing the public can get enough baseball in a schedule of 140 games. The matter of schedule is being held up until the January meeting on account of the uncertainty about the circuit.

If but 132 games were played, of course the season would be too short, each team meeting the others twelve times each. a two-flag race would be of no value. It is a question, however, even if the schedule should be lengthened to 154 games whether two seasons would be necessary. The double-pennant idea is in force to stimulate interest in the race. Each club in the middle of the season would have an opportunity to earn the right to meet the winner of the first flag for the championship of the league. The weaker clubs, outdistanced in the first half of the championship competition would strengthen, while the leaders, content in their higher positions would make few changes for the better. Consequently the teams would enter the second period more evenly matched. There would be a revival of interest among the fans, which is the effect desired when the system is instituted.

But with a dozen teams in the circuit a 154-game schedule would call for 14 contests to be played by each club with the others. The strange faces and different clubs would be so many it is likely the appetite of the fans for the game would not abate throughout the year until the fag end.

But it is the expense which piles up in that period at the close of the season, when the patrons begin to weary of baseball, which the magnates fear and would guard against by a 132-game schedule. From the player's and manager's point of view the longer season would be more satisfactory, as it would give them employment for nearly a month in their favorite occupation, which they would not have under the magnates' schedule. Each team would play the other but two more games over the longer route.

If in connection with consolidation of four O.-P. league cities and the present personnel of the Central league, a 154-game schedule should be arranged, the Green Stockings would clash with each club in the league fourteen times. On the first round four games would form a series, while three would comprise the extent of one club's visit the latter half of the year.

President Carson has been scored by a Zanesville writer for contemplating for an instant any scheme of redistricting the Central league which does not include Zanesville in the circuit. As a matter of fact, Dr. Carson has never discussed the probability of dropping any present member of the organization, although many believe both Zanesville and Wheeling should be dropped.

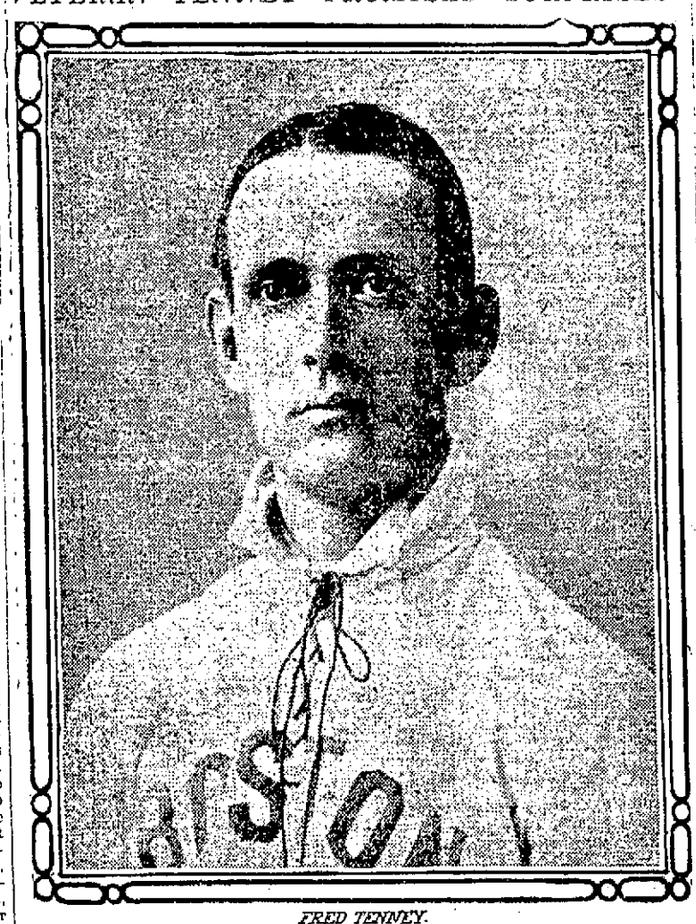
TWO VETERAN DRIVERS OF FAMOUS TROTTERS.

JOHN SPLAN. BUDD DOBLE.

The portraits above are those of two veteran trainers and drivers of famous trotters. "Budd" Doble it was who drove Dexter (2:17¼), Goldsmith Maid (2:14) and Nancy Hanks (2:04). John Splan, whose portrait appears on the left, will be remembered as the famous driver of Rarus.

VETERAN TENNEY PROMISES SURPRISES.



FRED TENNEY.

Here is the veteran Fred Tenney, who, notwithstanding reports to the contrary, will most likely lead the Boston Nationals again next year. Fred knows baseball from A to Izzard and promises some surprises for next year's race.

SPARKS FROM THE FIELD OF SPORTS

Tom Andrews, veteran fight critic and author, has left the Evening Wisconsin for The Leader, a newspaper that has been started at Milwaukee.

Monte Cross has signed as assistant manager of the St. Louis American team. President Hedges has accepted his terms by wire.

Buzz Wetzel kicked on the salary offered him by South Bend after his purchase from Terre Haute, but finally got into the fold and will play third for the Green Stockings.

Wolverton, the new manager of the New York Americans, is after an outfielder the equal to Cree. He says that if he can land one that he will give the Tigers and Athletics an awful battle for the pennant.

Tim Jordan is threatening suit against President Ebbetts of the Brooklyn club. Jordan wants to play first for Pittsburg and claims that Ebbetts is hampering him in his efforts to advance in his profession.

Jack Flourney, who played the outfield for Louisville in 1910, has signed with Richmond, Ky., for next season. He probably will manage the team. Flourney's home is in Louisville.

Owners of the Boston National league club are so anxious to strengthen the team's pitching staff that they are willing to part with $100,000 toward building up the team in this department of the game.

Pat Flaherty, the former Columbus and Kansas City pitcher, who after failing to make good in the minor leagues, went to the Boston Nationals last season and stuck the entire year out, has been sold to the Rochester club of the Eastern league by President Ward.

The Paris club of the Bluegrass league, has sold the release of Manager McKernan, who plays center field, to Battle Creek, of the Southern Michigan league, which team McKernan will manage next season. McKernan won the 1911 pennant for Paris.

Steve O'Neil, the young Napier catcher, is a brother of Mike and John O'Neil, who composed a famous battery for the St. Louis Cardinals a few years ago. The catcher brother of the family afterward went to the Cubs in a trade. Both have now retired from the diamond.

Larry Lejeune, reported to have fallen heir to a small fortune and a resulting decision to quit baseball, has not intimated such an intention to the Grand Rapids management. Manager Ed Smith is not worrying about Lejeune, he says. "Larry is too good a ball player to quit the game," he said today. "I don't think he'll give up baseball until he is forced to."

WOLGAST IS SERIOULY ILL.

Champion Lightweight Is Threatened With Pneumonia.

Los Angeles, Jan. 2.—That Ad Wolgast, who is confined to his bed, is seriously ill and is threatened with pneumonia, was admitted by Manager Tom Jones. Jones stated that Wolgast's temperature was 101 and that he was in severe pain. Dr. Pelper, who is attending the sick champion was summoned three times during the night and early today. Wolgast contracted the cold Sunday night in an automobile trip. Since his release from the hospital, where he was operated upon for appendicitis in November, Wolgast has felt so good that he could not resist the temptation to get out every day. He has balked at anything that meant indoor existence. Owing to the fact that Wolgast has not fully recovered his strength from the recent operation, his present illness is regarded as serious.

H. M. SEATON.

After having walked more than 34,000 miles and visited every country on the globe, H. M. Seaton, of Chicago, arrived in New York a few days ago. He left that city April 9, 1908, and walked to the Pacific coast, where he took a steamship to Australia.

Mr. Seaton was practically without funds and made his way by lecturing.

CONDITIONS ARE LENDING A HOPE

Annis Determined to Make Success at Grand Rapids in 1912.

WATCHING THE WORK

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 2.—Base ball public. Of a quiet disposition the the new year lend a hope that the season will be one of the best in the history of Central league base ball and this is saying a good deal, because John Ganzel made a nice little pile of money here the two years he was at the head of the club.

Owner Bert Annis was met when he came here with decided opposition and was told after a few months that he was personally unpopular and would never make a success in this city. Mr. Annis is fortunately possessed of an epidermis that is thick enough to stand for some pretty hard knocks and his reply was that the public wants good ball and don't give a cuss who supplies it.

Proceeding on this theory he is building a new park and will be in the fight this year to win back some of the kopecs he has sunk in the game here. Evidently there is a change of front and he is being welcomed by the element inclined to find fault with him.

Ed Smith is to be his team leader this year and this is satisfactory to the base ball public. On a quiet disposition the manager is not a man who will jump into popularity nor one who will jump out after he has gradually won his way in. He displayed good judgment last year and but for a bad start would have been up around the top at the finish. He was disappointed in his pitching staff.

Mr. Annis has preserved the annual custom of reserving Ben Hayworth. Benjamin quit the team when it was playing under the South Bend standard and went to digging in his patch of ground down around Mathews, Ind. Players anticipated that he would be back in a year and be glad to get a job, but he is still on the truck patch job and accounts indicate that he is doing as well and maybe a bit better than he could do as a member of a Central league base ball club.

Tobias, who refused to sign three years ago, and Newcomb, who is also out of the fold, are on the reserve list.

Manager Smith will endeavor to strengthen his pitching staff. He feels that he will be as good as ever, but he has some doubt about Patrick Henry Lindsay, Dave Martin and John Henry Meyers. Roy Hale is on his list and so is Bill Essick and the latter will be a strong card again it is believed.

Schmick and Kihm for first. Ben Koehler at second, either Speed Kelly, Hubert Hadley or Clyde Parker for short and Johnny Barkwell for third seems the making of a pretty good infield. For the outfield there are Phil Geier, Toddy Kroy and Midge Craven with a probability that John "Lefty" Core will also be purchased.

Holmes and Scanlon form a good backstopping pair and when the management has picked up a couple of strong pitchers the club will be ready to get out and give the best of the clubs a battle. The grounds are being whipped into shape just as rapidly as conditions will permit and every indication points to the assurance that the club will open the season of 1912 in its new home.

If Sheldon Lejune reports there will be another man to contend for a place in the outfield. Geier wants to be a manager and if he has a good chance it is not likely that Annis will stand in his way.

UNIVOCO CIGARS TRY A STRAIGHT

WILL PROFIT BY JEFFRIES' ERROR

Frank Gotch is not going to let himself be made the joke of the sporting world, as did Jim Jeffries, but on the contrary he is going to get out of the wrestling game while the getting is good, if the following talk can be taken at face value:

"Learn to bear the burdens of the under dog with good grace and fight your way to the top of the heap. I happen to be one of those champions that have been defeated. Back in my younger days I lost a number of matches, but they were only incidents which went to pave the way to a championship.

"I was the under dog with the determination, and I set out to win my battles, trying to be a 'gentleman' every inch of the way, and I extended myself to give my backers a good deal in every bout. Every man should learn to fight. By that I do not mean that he should be a pugilist or a wrestler, but I do mean that he should be able to fight out his own life's problems.

"I have made up my mind to retire shortly, and go to Europe.

"A man attains his greatest physical strength between the ages of 27 and 32. Then he begins to go back. He doesn't necessarily lose his strength, but he is not as agile as formerly, and he tires more quickly.

"That fits my case exactly. I am as strong, perhaps stronger than I ever was before, but I am getting slower. The old 'get there' spirit is not present. Not long ago when I wrestled Beel, I recognized that I was going back a little.

"That is why I have made up my mind to quit the game in the near future. If I keep at it long enough some man will come along who is strong enough to down me. I shall not meet with Jeffries' fate. Jim lost because he was merely a shell of his former self. He had the strength but not the speed nor the ability to stand the punishment handed out to him. In his former fights he was always punished severely, but he could stand it. When he fought Johnson he couldn't and that was all there was to it.

"But that will never be my fate. Not for every cent that Jeffries got at Reno would I go through what he did before and after that fight, particularly afterward. I intend to quit with the respect of the public and settle down and live the simple life. I have enough money set aside now, and do not need to wrestle any longer. Why should I continue? Zbyszko? No, I will not meet him. Why should I? I tackled him once and made him look cheap, and he has done nothing since to entitle him to a return bout."

ARE NOT WORRYING.

Smith and Annis Think Lejeune Will Play Ball.

The report that Larry Lejeune had fallen heir to a fortune and would not play baseball next year is a month or two old, yet neither Owner Annis or Manager Smith of the Grand Rapids club are in the least bit worried about it. They know Lejeune to be a baseball "bug" in that he would rather play baseball than do anything else and that he will not be able to resist the call of the diamond when the sun begins to shine again.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

FRED HUSTON IS PROMOTED

Is Assistant Master Mechanic of Pennsylvania Shops at Allegheny.

ENGINEER THOS. CADE DIES OF INJURIES

Was the Victim of Locomotive Boiler Explosion in Canada.

Fred Huston, of this city, assumed the duties of assistant to Master Mechanic O. P. Reese, of the Allegheny shops of the Pennsylvania yesterday, a change which came to him in the form of a good promotion. Mr. Huston has been in the employ of the company about eight years, taking up an apprenticeship in the machine shop immediately after graduating from one of the universities. He has served during his connection with the road as an apprentice, gang foreman, motive power inspector and inspector of new locomotive work at the shops where engines were built for the company and has just completed the inspection of several locomotives at the American Locomotive works. His promotion is not a surprise to Mr. Huston's friends, for they predicted some sort of an advancement for him when it was known several weeks ago that some changes were to occur.

BUILDING NEW ELEVATOR.

The Contractors Take Up Work on the Egley Plant.

The contractors have a force of men at work excavating for the foundations for the big elevator that will be erected on ground adjoining the G. R. & I. tracks, out near West Main street, and it will be pushed along with a view of completing the building by the first of April.

The new elevator will be one of the largest in the state and will have a capacity of approximately 50,000 bushels of grain per day, at the outset. It is planned to build additions to the structure during the year and this was held in view when the plans for the present building were drawn up. Grain will be received and reconsigned after having gone through recleaning and other processes, facilities which have been badly needed in this section of the state for some time. The smallest elevator in the building will have a capacity of three thousand bushels and the largest will be capable of handling seven thousand bushels. Material for the structure is already being delivered and the actual work of construction will start as soon as the excavations are finished.

C. G. Egley, who is at the head of the company that is having the building erected, has established an office in room 12, Arcade, and he will bring his family from Berne later.

BEGAN AS MOTIVE POWER CLERK.

W. W. Richardson, who became general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Southwest system yesterday, began his railway career as a clerk in the motive power offices of the Pennsylvania

W. W. RICHARDSON,
The New General Passenger Agent of the Pennsylvania.

at Cincinnati, September 1, 1880. He was soon transferred to Indianapolis in a similar capacity, where he remained until 1887, when he was made chief clerk to the division superintendent at Richmond. Then he passed through a number of promotions until 1905, when he was appointed assistant general passenger agent with headquarters first at Indianapolis and later at Pittsburg.

ENGINEER CADE DEAD.

Injuries Sustained in Crown Sheet Accident Are Fatal.

Thomas Cade, of St. Thomas, Ont., the engineer who was in the cab of Wabash engine No. 1800 at Thamesville, Ont., Friday night when the crown sheet gave way, died the following morning at 8 o'clock as the result of the injuries he sustained. Cade was one of the young engineers on the road, being only twenty-seven years old. He began work as a fireman ten years ago and was promoted to engineer three years ago. The accident was most remarkable because of the manner of escape of the fireman and brakeman from serious injury. The train was approaching the water plug a short distance from the depot at Thamesville, where Engineer Cade was going to stop to fill the tank. The brakeman had dropped off the engine at the depot and the fireman had gone on the tender to operate the watering apparatus when the crown sheet blew off. The fireman was carried from the tender by the force of the explosion, but was only slightly injured. Engineer Cade was enveloped in a cloud of steam and water from the boiler and was badly scalded. He was taken to the hospital at St. Thomas, where he died the next morning.

CAR AND ENGINE BUILDING.

New Year Gives Promise of Greater Activity.

The year 1912 promises more activity in the car and locomotive building industry than characterized the business of the past year. So far the following deals have been announced: Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, orders for twenty-five engines; Grand Trunk to build thirty engines in its own shops; Western Maryland, asking bids on twenty-five engines; the Maine Central, orders eleven engines; the Abilene and Southern, orders one engine; Missouri Pacific, orders 500 all steel box cars; Great Northern, 1,500 refrigerator cars; Woodward Iron company, 100 freight cars; C. & O., 200 steel underframe cars; Grand Trunk Pacific, 300 steel underframe cars; C., B. & Q., 2,500 steel cars; Minneapolis, St. Paul and Ste Marie, 300 refrigerator cars; the Rock Island, 3,000 freight cars, and the Western Maryland, 2,500 freight and thirty-three all steel, baggage and passenger cars.

IN ONE OFFICE 28 YEARS.

Herman Kucher Begins New Year With Pennsylvania.

Herman Kucher yesterday began the twenty-ninth year of his service in the office of the division engineer of the Pennsylvania. He succeeded Robert Learmouth twenty-eight years ago when that gentleman was transferred to superintendent's office. At that time the clerical force in the maintenance of way offices consisted of William H. Chamberlain and Mr. Kucher. Seven or eight years later Mr. Chamberlain, who was the chief clerk, died and he was succeeded by Mr. Kucher. To meet the increasing demand of the department of maintenance of way, the clerical force was increased from time to time until there are seven men employed, where only two were necessary when Mr. Kucher began work there.

STENOGRAPHERS MAKE CHANGE.

Clem Metler, stenographer for Division Engineer F. M. Graham, of the Pennsylvania, for some time, resigned Saturday and this morning took a similar position in the office of the Diester Concentrator company, on Fairmount place. The vacancy at the division engineer's office has been filled by Vernard A. McCullick, for a few months stenographer for H. M. Quicksell, Star Union Line agent. Mr. McCullick is a recent graduate of the Business college.

YARD CLERK RESIGNS.

Ralph Boland has resigned the position of yard clerk at the Bass foundry, which he held two years, quit Saturday and yesterday became a caller of engine crews for the Pennsylvania. The vacancy at the foundry has been filled by the promotion of Frank J. Zakschefski, who held one of the clerical positions under Supt. William Klingman. Albert Trautman, formerly of the General Electric Lamp works, was employed to fill the position vacated by Mr. Zakschefski. These changes are good promotions for the men affected.

HAS SCARLET FEVER AT HOME.

William Nahrwold, a foreman at the Bass foundry, is barred from his home temporarily on account of his four-year-old son being sick with scarlet fever. The patient, it is said, is not in a serious condition. Walter L. Niemeyer, who makes his home with Mr. Nahrwold, has also been forced to seek other quarters pending the sickness of the little boy. Mr. Neimeyer is a clerk in the Pennsylvania offices.

RETURNS FROM THE WEST.

C. W. Moore, clerk in the Pennsylvania paint shop office, and his wife have returned from Iowa and the Dakotas, where they went over two weeks ago to visit relatives. Mr. Moore says that Allen county looks good to him after spending a fortnight in a snow covered country with the thermometer in the neighborhood of zero.

CHARLEY CROSS TRANSFERRED.

Charles W. Cross, superintendent of apprentices of the New York Central lines, will hereafter have headquarters in Chicago, instead of New York. He will have jurisdiction over all the lines west of Buffalo. Mr. Cross is a former Fort Wayne man and makes frequent visits here.

TRAVEL HEAVY TODAY.

Travel was heavy out of the city today on all of the lines and particularly on the Pennsylvania. The Chicago limited, No. 23, carried twenty Fort Wayne people to Chicago this morning.

RETURNS FROM DENVER.

Ed Deither, the Pennsylvania cabinetmaker, has returned from Denver, Col., where he spent two weeks with his daughter. Mrs. Deither will remain in Denver with her daughter a few weeks.

LIGHTS RESUME WORK.

The Fort Wayne Electric works are in operation again, after a shut down of three or four days for inventory. The works are very busy.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Frank C. Tolan, the salesman, left this morning for Chicago.

Supt. J. C. Sullivan, of the Wabash, was here looking after business matters today.

Henry Eisele, general foreman of the Wabash shops, is confined to his home today by sickness.

Orville Scott and F. E. McDaniel are new employes at the Wabash shops. They are machinists' helpers.

F. Rothenberger, a tinner at the Pennsylvania shops, was the guest of relatives in Detroit over the New Year day.

M. O. Shookman, who had a foot hurt a week ago, is at work again in the Pennsylvania erecting shop.

E. Steil, a painter at the Pennsylvania shops, is on duty again, after a few days' absence on account of an injured foot.

Passenger Engineer S. P. Speece, who has been sick three or four days, reported for work on the Pennsylvania this morning.

H. E. May, who was sick two weeks, and H. C. Horstmeyer, who was hurt two weeks ago, reported for work at the Pennsylvania boiler shop this morning.

R. L. Stanu, W. H. Horstmeyer, F. H. Lauer, C. A. Szink, C. Welkening and M. Koehl, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

C. L. Bartholome, signal supervisor for the Pennsylvania, and his wife and son have returned from Evansville, where they spent the holiday week with his parents.

No. 78, Switchmen's Union of North America, will hold the annual election next Monday night. It was due a week ago, but was postponed on account of the holidays.

William Neizer, the veteran tinner at the Pennsylvania shops, who was taken sick four weeks ago, is now able to be out on the streets and expects to resume work the latter part of the week.

Passenger Brakeman W. B. Welsch, of the Pennsylvania, was taken ill on train No. 18 last Saturday and has been unable to work since. The attack is a return of an old trouble, but is not supposed to be serious.

W. F. Fuller, who had a hand hurt a month ago; F. Hausbach, who had a wrist injured a week ago; Andy Ryan, who was sick a month, and A. P. Mueller, who was sick a week, reported for duty at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop this morning.

Hammersmith Edgar Sziuk, who had been sick with appendicitis several weeks, expected to resume work at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop this morning, but was advised by the company surgeon to wait a few days. He has not fully recovered.

Two Mallet articulated compound engines, with sixteen drivers and four cylinders, were a part of a freight train on the Pennsylvania which passed through the city this morning, en route for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road. Several other big engines passed through this city last week.

OFFICIAL FAMILY GUESTS OF SHERIFF ON NEW YEARS DAY.

Charles Aker, turnkey; Frank Eick, chief deputy; Barney Schoenfeldt, riding deputy; Joe Kirk, superior court deputy; Ed Courdevey, riding deputy; Harry Lowry, circuit court deputy; John H. Eckles, commissioners' court deputy; Fred Stolte, workhouse superintendent; A. M. Reichelderfer, sheriff; Walter Immel, former deputy.

PREPARED AND SERVED AND HELPED TO EAT THE BIG NEW YEARS DINNER.

Mrs. John H. Eckles, Margaret Eckles, Mrs. Dessie Baker, Mrs. Ed Courdevey, Mrs. Fred Stolte, Mrs. A. M. Reichelderfer, Susie Boger, Elsie Bell.

Aaron M. Reichelderfer and his wife started the last year of their terms as sheriff of Allen county and matron at the county jail by entertaining their deputies and all of the attaches at the jail at a big New Year's dinner served in the dining room of the institution New Year's afternoon.

The wives of all the deputies were invited and so were the children, but several of them were ill and unable to attend, but at that the hosts had two long tables of visitors to feed and some of the deputies are just as handy with their knives and forks as they are with subpoenas and warrants and as a result the generous dinner barely survived the double attack.

The menu started with roast turkey and "stuffin'" and meandered along through a course of delightful edibles until it stopped at mince pie. Mr. Reichelderfer will retire the first of next January and the entertainment of yesterday will probably be his last at the jail.

Both he and his wife have made good records and the most notable achievements of the sheriff and his force during last year were the capture of Jesse McCullom, horse thief, and William Pellon, who robbed the Harlan postoffice and the organization of an association of sheriffs under which a most excellent system was worked out for the capture of law breakers.

The weather man he sighed full long
And cried: "'Tis thankless plan

The fickle mind of man!

"Unseasonable, the public said,
The weather of the past.
And wondered in sarcastic way
How long it was to last.
So then I thought their taste to please,
This Cerberus give a sop.
And, taking down the temperature,
I gave them quite a drop.

"Quite satisfied? Well, that's the point!
No; not a little bit!
I'm popular with just myself

But now I'll show these fickle folk
I know what I'm about.

COLLEGE DIPLOMA FOR HOUSEKEEPER

Demonstration Laboratory is a Completely Furnished Flat.

IS TO PRACTICE IN

New York, Jan. 2.—When "in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," and when he is ready to pop the question, let him make one preliminary inquiry: "Has she a diploma from Teachers' college?" No home is complete without one, according to several bridegrooms who have made selections recently.

model apartment is the latest laboratory added to the domestic science course in Teachers' college. Its technical title is "Demonstration laboratory," but it is just the same as the regular Harlem flat, size six and seven-eighths. It consists of three rooms, a bath and a pantry. It is in this model apartment that the girls are learning to be housekeepers.

The class, like all Gaul, is divided into three parts, waitresses, guests and hostesses.

And why shouldn't the girls learn housekeeping in this way?" asked one of the instructors in the course. "When a boy desires to know all about a machine shop he starts at the bottom and works at a bench. Then, if a girl wants to learn to run a house, why shouldn't she practice the waitress' work and the cooking and the cleaning so that she shall know just how it is done?"

"In the bright lexicon of a Harlem flat there is no such word as maid," suggested the truth seeker.

"But we teach the girls here to maintain every sort of establishment, from a Harlem flat to a country estate. Those with wealthy suitors in view imagine that this is a country house, and those who expect to marry a clerk make believe that it is a Harlem flat," explained the instructor.

"A girl has to pass an examination in this course, as well as in any other. For instance, we had a student here last week who was playing the part of a guest during an examination, and she had gotten through with the dinner beautifully and had come out with the right spoon for her ice cream, but when she was leaving she forgot to say to the hostess:

"'I have had such a very nice time, and I want to thank you.'

"What was there to do? Nothing but 'flunk' her, and she will have to go through the course as a guest again. One of the saddest cases that we have had here was a student from Yonkers who tried to eat peas with her knife, and she was put right out of the course. She protested that this should not be held against her, because she hadn't let any of them roll off.

"We teach the students how to clean the flat, and we have to hire women to come in here and muss up, so that the girls can have practice in cleaning. Then we have the course in the care of infants that is being well attended by a lot of young wives. The purpose of this is to instruct them how to care for babies. The girls are shown what are the right kinds of bottles to use and the wrong, and the right sort of clothing for infants at various ages. Then there is a class which must make the bed. We want to produce good wives and girls that care more about the home than reading articles on 'How to Be Beautiful.' We are serious in our work and so are the students."

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"THE SPENDTHRIFT."

With Fanny Ward and Lionel Adams Coming Wednesday Evening.

With a record of success established by five months' continuous occupancy at the Hudson Theater, New York, "The Spendthrift," Frederic Thompson's production of the Porter Emerson Browne play, comes to the Majestic Theater Wednesday evening.

"The Spendthrift" is a drama of domestic extravagance. Its theme is an evil which is prevalent in so many households of Americans of the middle class. When writing it Porter Emerson Browne did not believe he was prescribing a remedy for "the high cost of living," but he did believe he was presenting certain conditions in such emphatic fashion as to arouse the discussion which would of itself be beneficial. Everybody who has seen "The Spendthrift" agrees that the playfight succeeded in this purpose.

The strength of "The Spendthrift" as a drama made the engagement of a cost of more than usual capabilities an absolute necessity if its points were to be properly emphasized. The cast includes: Fanny Ward, Lionel Adams, Edwin Holland, Sumner Gard, Guy D'Ennery, Alice Kelly, Kate Jepson and Eleanor Woodruff.

"Shorty McCabe" Friday Night.

Victor Moore, who has given a stage embodiment of the titular hero of W. Sewell Ford's inimitable magazine stories and books, was in figure, temperament and mind "made for the part. Nothing fresher or more delicious has been given to the stage than Mr. Moore's creation of this part. It is rich in humor, but it has strength and force and all who see "Shorty" at the Majestic Theater Friday night will be delighted to make his acquaintance in flesh and blood. The play is interesting and virile and a strong supporting company has been selected to carry the action.

GIRLS HAS MADE A COOL $40,000

Employed in Department Store; Lends to Fashionable Women

RAN ON MUSTACHES

St. Louis, Jan. 2.—Miss Nettie Ownes, who disposed of attempts to bring her into a divorce case by declaring, on the witness stand, that she would not kiss a man with a mustache, says she has made $40,000 in her sixteen years as a department store employe. She has made the greater part of it by lending money to fellow workers and business acquaintances.

Miss Owens is the head of the glove department in a downtown store. She is thirty odd years old—the odd is an odd number, and it isn't nine—and she is strikingly fashionable in appearance and sharply businesslike in speech. She lives at 405 North Twenty-sixth street, East St. Louis.

"To be sure, I wouldn't kiss any man with a mustache," she said to a reporter, who asked her about her testimony in Solomon B. Pruschansky's divorce suit.

Owns Most of Stock.

She owns most of the stock in Pruschansky's tailoring concern, and Mrs. Pruschansky, defendant in the divorce suit, tried to make it appear that there had been more than a business friendship between her husband and Miss Owens. Miss Owens' statement on the witness stand was in startling contrast to the old saying, long supposed to represent feminine sentiment, that kissing a clean-shaven man is like eating an egg without salt.

"I haven't kissed my father for years," the young woman went on, "because he won't shave off his mustache, as I've often asked him to. I'd as soon kiss a man on the top of the head. Why, I'd go insane if I had to kiss a man with a mustache. It disgusts me to think of it."

Made $600 With $135.

"I bought for $2,200 most of the stock of Pruschansky's establishment, and I loaned him $8,000, with most of the remaining stock as security, so that I practically own the business. That $8,000 is only one-fifth of what I have made since I went into department store work.

"At first I worked for $10 a week and saved all I could. Then I became interested in the business of a relative who was a money lender, and when he went away, I tried my hand at the business. I had $435 in the bank, but I left the $400 and used the $35. In a year I made $600 out of the $35, and had $1,000.

"I always require ample security. Here, for instance," and she called attention to one of four rings, set with large diamonds, which were on the fingers of her left hand. "That was left with me on a $150 loan, and I don't expect the borrower to return for it, and I shall be sorry if he does.

Lends to Fashionable Women.

"Fashionable women come here frequently and call for me, and while they may buy a pair of gloves, their real object is to get money. They get it, if they have the collateral. I make loans to men also.

"I haven't reached the height of my ambition, either. It's taken me years to make $40,000, and I know a glove buyer in New York that makes $40,000 a year. I mean to have her job, or one like it, some day."

The Pruschansky case is under advisement with Judge Homer. Pruschansky and his wife lived at 4127 Olive street, and Miss Owens says she often visited them there, ceasing the visits only recently when the wife began showing an unfriendly spirit.

THE DANGER OF LA GRIPPE

Is its fatal tendency to pneumonia. To cure your la grippe coughs take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. R. E. Fisher, Washington, Kan., says: "I was troubled with a severe attack of la grippe and nothing I used did me any good and I was threatened with pneumonia. A friend advised me to use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and I got some at once. I was relieved from the very first. By the time I had taken three bottles my la grippe was gone. I believe Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to be the best medicine I ever used and always keep a bottle with me." Dreier Drug Co.

ONE DOSE MAKES INDIGESTION GO

Heartburn, Gas, Sourness and Other Stomach Misery Vanishes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating, and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure Indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your Stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas, which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out-of-order Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort, all of any kind of food you eat. adv.

STATUS OF SHOOTING MATCH

Was Employed to Decide a Tie Vote for Office.

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 1.—If a tie vote is cast for two candidates for office is settlement of the contest by a shooting match legal. Pending authoritative answer to this question Trustee John Siscoe, of Pike township, this county, today declined to recognize James Crouch as road supervisor.

Crouch and David Blackwell received an equal number of votes in an election to fill the office of road supervisor. Agreeing to abide by the result of a shooting match, each fired 25 shots at a paper target hung on a tree. Crouch put more bullets in the bull's eye than did his opponent. Blackwell declares he is satisfied, but Trustee Siscoe says he will have to read the law books carefully before he rules.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable family medicine. Give it to your children, and take it yourself when you feel a cold coming on. It checks and cures coughs, colds and croup and prevents bronchitis and pneumonia. Refuse substitutes. Dreier Drug Co.

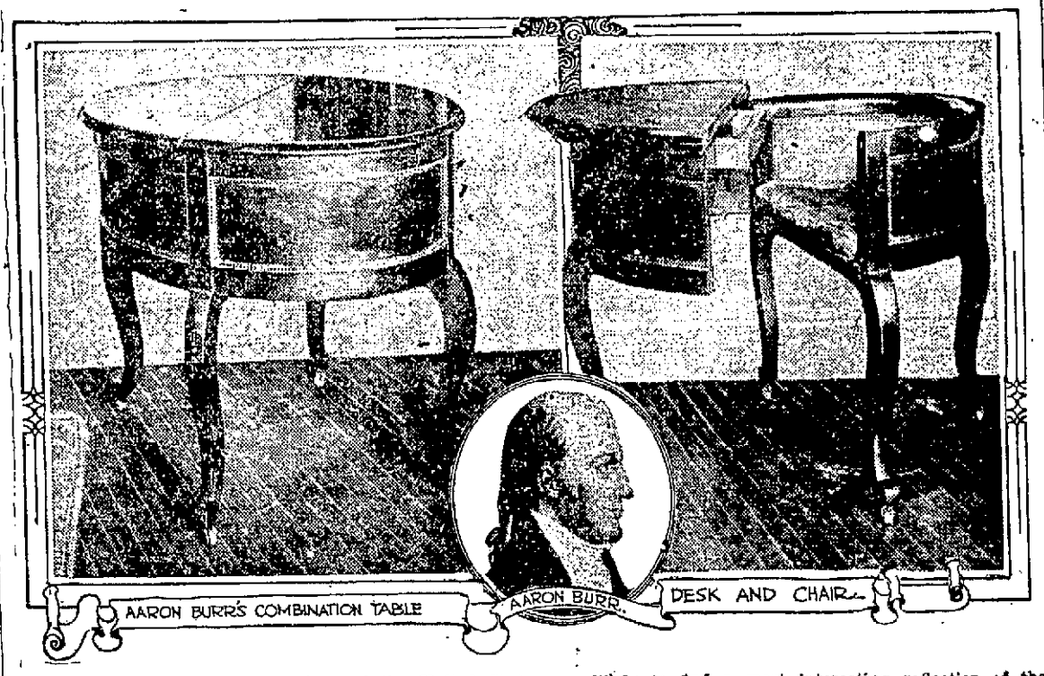
ANCIENT PIECE OF FURNITURE WHICH HAS INTERESTING HISTORY



Students of the early history of the United States are likely to find a most interesting reflection of the strange secretive character of Aaron Burr in the very unusual piece of furniture which decorates the home of William A. Arnton, in New York city. It was the personal writing desk of Aaron Burr and one of the few things of any value that he kept through all the vicissitudes of his twisted fortunes.

At first sight it seems only a handsome old fashioned oval table. Pulled apart, one side becomes a desk, with drawer for writing materials, and the other a chair in which to sit while writing.

There is little reason to doubt that Burr wrote on this now ancient desk letters of his courtship of the wealthy widow Mme. Jumel, whose fortune some of his biographers believe was the ladder upon which he hoped to climb again to power after the disasters of his treachery to Thomas Jefferson, his killing of Hamilton and his ill fated scheme to become dictator of Mexico.

A Happy and Prosperous New Year to You Is My Earnest Wish

Of course the fullest measure of happiness and prosperity can only be possible to those who are enjoying good health.

Not only is ill health responsible for most of the failures in business, but the prolonged deleterious effect of chronic disease so affects the nervous system as to disqualify the brightest minds from attaining the higher purposes for which they are otherwise qualified.

My fifteen years of concentrated endeavor to CURE these chronic and deep-seated diseases has resulted in the perfection of new and original methods of treatment, so far superior to those generally in use that there is no comparison, whatever; and the hundreds of letters I have on file are positive proof that I do all that I claim.

NOW IS THE TIME TO START THE NEW YEAR RIGHT. GET WELL. LET ME PROVE TO YOU THAT I CAN CURE YOU.

It costs you nothing to investigate and if you are suffering from any of the following diseases, you can be certain of being cured. I treat Varicocele, Hydrocele, Rupture, Prostatic enlargement or inflammation, Blood Poison, Stricture, Nervous breakdown and Chronic diseases generally. No incurable cases undertaken.

BUYS BACK GIRL SHE GAVE AWAY

Longed for "Baby" in After Years When Riches Came to Her.

SHE GLADLY PAYS $500

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Mrs. Bertha Mann "bought back" the daughter she gave away twelve years ago by paying the foster mother $500 in the court room of Judge Merritt W. Pinckney in the juvenile court.

The reunion of the mother, who is the wife of a civil engineer in the Panama canal zone, and her daughter was the culmination of a seven-year search.

Twelve years ago Mrs. Mann's first husband died, leaving her practically destitute and with the care of a two-year-old daughter. The mother decided she would have to give her away.

Mrs. A. L. McCarthy, now living at No 2419 West Monroe street, took the child and reared her.

The mother married her present husband and was raised from poverty to comparative riches. When she became affluent the mother-love welled up in her heart and she began a search for her daughter.

For years she could find no trace of the child and then, a year ago, found her.

Mrs. Mann journey to Chicago from Panama and asked the juvenile court to restore her daughter to her. Judge Pinkney refused to take the child from the foster mother, but as a compromise put the girl, now nearly fifteen years old, in the custody of John H. Witter, chief probation officer of the juvenile court. Mr. Witter put the girl in the academy of Wheaton college. There both the mother and the foster mother saw her and corresponded with her.

Neither wanted to give up the girl, but now Judge Pinckney has awarded her to her mother. Prior to the court decision Mrs. Mann and Mrs. McCarthy came to an agreement under which the foster mother agreed to give up the child if paid $500.

When Judge Pinckney was told of the agreement he put the case on "intanter." Mrs. Mann took five $100 bills from her pocketbook and gave them to Mrs. McCarthy.

Judge Pinckney entered the order and the mother, with her arm around her daughter, walked out of the court room. They have started for Panama, where the daughter, who heretofore has been known by the name of Alma McCarthy, will take her stepfather's name of Mann.

The money given to Mrs. McCarthy was in part to reimburse her for the sums spent by her on Alma's education and upbringing.

It was agreed that if in six months the girl wants to return to her foster mother she may do so. In this case Mrs McCarthy is to return to Mrs. Mann $300 of the money paid her.

HER ROMANCE IS ENDED

MRS. HANNAH GENS LEVY

The marriage of Miss Hannah Gens to Milton Harold Levy, driver of racing automobiles, both of New York, has just been annulled. Miss Gens is the daughter of a wealthy New York real estate broker, and her romance began when young Levy met with an accident in his machine. His skull was fractured and for weeks it was thought he could not live. He was nursed back to health by Miss Gens, following which the couple eloped. The annulment was brought about by the young lady's father, who said she is not of age.

The Charm of Venice.

A young lady who had returned from a tour through Italy with her father informed a friend that he liked all the Italian cities, but most of all he loved Venice. "Ah, Venice, to be sure!" said the friend. "I can readily understand that your father would like Venice with its gondolas, and St. Mark's, and Michelangelos." "Oh, no," the young lady interrupted, "it wasn't that. He liked it because he could sit in the hotel and fish from the window."—Catholic News.

KICKED A COON OFF THE LIMB

But Packy Griswold Also Kicked Himself Off With It.

TALL HUNTING YARN

Portland, Me., Dec. 29.—"If there is another region anywhere better cut and fitted to suit the tastes of the night growling, ring-tailed coon than the country round about Lake Keuka, up in old Steuben," said Packy Griswold of Hammondsport, "then I would be pleased to have a look at it.

"Coon hunting is hard work in the Lake Keuka district because the hills are high and steep all around, and when a coon finds out that some one with a dog is after him he tears rigth up the face of the hills to the very top and we have to tug and climb and puff and blow, I tell you, to follow him.

"But ordinarily there isn't anything about a coon hunt up in the Lake Keuka country that is calculated to terrify the hunter, but I came just as near being scared to death by a coon one night as any one could come and yet live. And I'm scared yet whenever I think of that coon hunt.

"I was hunting with a friends of mine from Bath, the county seat, whose chief pride is that it is only eight miles from Hammondsport, and the lake. I had a good coon dog, and we weren't long in starting a coon. He took a bee line up the steepest and highest hill there was within five miles, but my dog was up to the tricks of the Lake Keuka coon and followed this one so close that the ringtailed thief of the vineyards was forced to climb a tree.

"We had managed to get to the very highest point of the hill, though, more than 300 feet above the lake. The night was dark, but when we got to the foot of the tree in which the dog had treed the coon I soon discovered him, all in a bunch, on a good sized limb ten feet from the ground.

"The dog had shown so many good points in overhauling the game and treeing it that I thought it wouldn't be any more than right and fair that he should be encouraged and rewarded for his cleverness by ending up the hunt with a tussle with the coon, so I got ready to climb the tree and kick the coon off the limb down to the dog.

"The tree was a good sized chestnut with spreading limbs. I shinned up the trunk and soon reached the branch on which the coon was perching. Then he ran out to the end of the limb and made his stand, for he couldn't go any further.

"I crept along the limb until I came within kicking distance of the coon. The limb was too big for me to shake him off. I reached up and grabbed it with one hand and aimed a tremendous kick at the coon.

The kick landed all right and knocked the coon from his hold and off the limb. But the force of the kick broke my hold on the limb above and my feet slipped off of the lower limb, so that I was following the coon in his tumble. I caught one arm on the lower limb as I went down and quickly grabbed the limb with my other and saved myself from the tumble. The limb being only ten feet from the ground, I had only a couple of feet to drop as I hung, but I hung on and listened to hear the coon hit the ground and the dog pitch into him.

"I didn't hear the coon hit the ground, but after a quarter of a minute or so I heard a sound as if something were crashing through a tree a good way down the hill. Pretty soon a similar sound came up from somewhere a good deal further away. Then, after an interval, another further down than the second, and at last a distant, dull thump, as of some object striking the ground.

"I felt myself turning cold. I remember working my way along the limb back to the trunk of the tree and sliding down to the ground. Then I quit remembering anything. When I got back to knowing something my friend had me stretched out on the ground and was feeding me whisky. By and by I remembered what had occurred.

"That chestnut tree stood a few feet from the edge of one of the deepest ravines along the lake. We knew the ravine was there all right, but it never occurred to me that the limbs of that tree grew away out over it. They did, though, and when I kicked myself and that coon off of the limb we were on I wasn't hanging almost within reach of the ground as I supposed, but was suspended in the air, with nothing under me but 300 feet or so of vacancy.

"If I hadn't caught myself as I fell or if I had let myself drop as I might have done with listening for the coon to hit the ground, I would have chased that coon to the bottom of the gulley, and well, there are pleasanter things to think of than what the rest of it would have been. And that little episode must have everlastingly scared my friend, for as soon as he grasped the situation I'm blowed if he didn't wish he was back in Bath!

"I have never hunted coons much since that night. I don't say that that is the reason there are more coons up in the Lake Keuka country now than there used to be, but I have my opinion about it."

BOWSER'S GIFT.

His Generosity Receives a Stunning Rebuff.

SAD STORY OF A HAT.

He Learns by Bitter Experience That No Man Can Buy Millinery For Any Woman—Mrs. Bowser's Ingratitude Wrecks His Christmas Joy.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.]

WHILE Mrs. Bowser was down in the kitchen the other afternoon giving the cook instructions as to dinner she heaved a sigh and said:

"Maggie, I have got a presentiment."

"I hope not," was the reply. "My brother Jim had one and was laid up in bed for two months with it. He walks lame yet."

"A presentiment is a feeling."

"Oh, is it?"

"You feel that something is going to happen."

"Well, if a tramp comes to the door and is sassy about it I'll take care of him."

"It isn't a tramp, Maggie. I've got a presentiment that Mr. Bowser is going to bring me home a present tonight."

"Glory to you! Will it be a sealskin coat?"

"I don't know, but I feel that whatever it is I shan't like it, and so there will be a row."

"I hope not. Mr. Bowser went away this morning singing that beautiful

"ISN'T IT A JIM DANDY?"

hymn, 'I Want to Soar Away.' A man who is thinking of soaring won't have his mind on a row."

Mrs. B.'s Presentiment.

The presentiment didn't vanish, however. On the contrary, it grew stronger, and when Mr. Bowser finally appeared Mrs. Bowser was almost in a tremble. Then there was a reaction. Mr. Bowser was smiling. He gave her a kiss and then walked through into the sitting room and deposited a box on the table and jocularly said:

"On your life, no one is to put a hand on this until after dinner."

"Is it something for me?"

"Never you mind."

"I hope it isn't another fire escape."

"It won't escape if you let it alone."

"But is it a microbe killer?"

"Don't you worry about microbes. No use your trying to guess what it is, for you couldn't in fifty years. I will say this, however—it's something for you."

"Oh, but I want to see it!"

"But you keep hands off. I'm as hungry as a wolf and want dinner."

They went down to the dining room, his arm around her and she quite forgetful of that presentiment. Mr. Bowser was fairly jolly during the meal, and the cat sat with solemn countenance and seemed to be saying to herself:

"Oh, yes—oh, yes—but you just wait and see how this thing comes out! There's lots of time yet for a row."

When the sitting room was reached again Mrs. Bowser said:

"It was awfully kind of you. Mr. Bowser. How nice to surprise me with a new wrap! Just let me see one little corner of it."

The Revelation.

"Not a hair's breadth—not yet!" he replied as he seized her and went waltzing around the room and uttering chuckles. "It isn't quite a wrap, but nevertheless I hope it will prove a glad surprise. We will now investigate the mystery of the mysterious box."

"It may be a fur coat," laughed Mrs. Bowser.

"Yes?"

"Or the latest style of muff."

"Yes?"

"Or a Paris gown."

"Yes?"

"Now I know what it is for sure: It's a nice bath robe. I told you a long time ago I needed one, and you haven't forgotten. You couldn't have pleased me more."

"Mebbe not, but I hope to," he replied as he removed string and paper. "Here we are at last. How do you like that?"

A trimmed hat was taken from the box and carefully held out on his hand.

Mrs. Bowser gave one look, and the room seemed to whirl around with her.

"Isn't it a jim dandy?"

Room still whirling.

"I went into a dozen different places before I got suited. Doesn't she knock the socks off'n anything you ever saw in the hat line?"

Mrs. Bowser couldn't answer.

"You'd have gone down and spent ten days and tried on a thousand hats before you were suited, while it took me just seventy seconds to buy this after I saw it. What's the matter with you that you ain't dancing around and clapping your hands?"

No Enthusiasm.

"N-nothing."

"Then what are you turning all sorts of colors for? Isn't she a beauty?"

"Yes—very nice—but"—

"But what? Here is a hat beautifully jetted, trimmed up in red lavender ties and cost me $23. What's wrong with it?"

"Why, it isn't my shape," she replied.

"Your shape? What has your shape got to do with a hat? Are you too fat or too lean?"

"I mean the brim is too wide, and I can't wear those colors with my complexion."

"Your complexion be hanged! What has your complexion got to do with a twenty-three dollar hat?"

"And those ties! Even a colored woman can't wear lavender ties. You see"—

"Yes, I see, and durn my buttons I had the milliner take off the green ties and put these on and paid her a dollar extra to make the change!"

"You are awfully good and kind, dear, but I can't wear that hat. I should look like a fright in it. You see, you"—

"I see that I am an ass, Mrs. Bowser!" he shouted as he waved the hat on high. "Here I have run my confounded legs off and paid out twenty-three big dollars, and you talk about complexion and lavender and colored women!"

The Rejection.

"But please don't be angry, Mr. Bowser. You see, no man can select a hat for a woman. There's got to be harmony between"—

"Harmony, eh?" he growled. "She's got to prance around for two weeks and try on everything she sees till she can match her eye winkers, eyebrows and bump on her nose and the pimple on her chin. That's all right. You go ahead and prance!"

"I'm awfully sorry, but Maggie has an aunt who can probably wear"—

"Not by the seven bulls of Bullville! Am I around buying hats for my cook? Am I around buying hats for my cook's aunt? Am I trotting around for Polly and Annie and Sarah and Susie? Well, I guess not!"

"Mr. Bowser, if you would listen to me"—

"You'd tell me that it could be sent to some old woman's home. Well, it can't. It's going into the alley, and when I get another surprise for you you can look for an earthquake with it."

"But"—

"No more, Mrs. Bowser. It's all settled. The hat doesn't become you, and we'll try it on an old hen. I now go to the library. If you wish to telephone your lawyer do so. Tell him that I am willing to pay $25 a week alimony, but I shall insist on the divorce being hustled right through. And while you are about it you can speak to Maggie"—

"But Maggie has gone out."

"You can speak to Maggie, and she can speak to her aunt, and both of them can go to Jericho."

Well Rehearsed.

An amateur charity worker visiting a family in the tenement district was alarmed to see the mother dash a cup of cold water in the face of the baby she had just finished dressing.

Too polite to express her amazement, the visitor held her breath, expecting the air to be rent with screams. When none came, the child merely whimpering, she said, "Dear me, I should think he'd object more than that."

"Wouldn't ye, now?" said the fond mother admiringly. "Sure I've been practicing on him for three weeks. He won't yell when he's baptized next Sunday. He'll be used to it."—Ladies' Home Journal.

HORSE THIEVES WORKED RELAYS

Original Robber Passed Animal to Second and He to a Third.

ARE CAUGHT FINALLY

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 2.—The last three alleged members of a "progressive" gang of horse thieves, which has operated successfully in Oklahoma and Southern Kansas for five years, are now facing trial in the district court of Oklahoma county on the charge of horse stealing.

The men under arrest in Oklahoma county are W. H. Tackett, charged with being the leader; Henry Hildebrandt and J. D. Faught. Thirteen indictments have been returned against them.

The rounding up of the thieves is the work of Deputy Sheriff J. W. Rippey, former police officer of Oklahoma City, who was employed by the board of county commissioners in a secret manner and given instructions to follow the thieves to their resorts. That was eight months ago. At present eighteen alleged horse thieves are under arrest. Fifty-three horses have been recovered and returned to their owners, and a large number of stolen vehicles have been found.

While working northward evidence was obtained by the officer that the trail had been crossed and become strangely involved with several bank robberies on the west side. As a result of the clews unraveled, four members of the horse thief gang were apprehended and have been sentenced to the penitentiary on charges of bank robbery. Two of the robbers were captured by officers while they were hiding in an abandoned well.

The success of the gang was due to the relay or "progressive" method of shifting the stolen animals. One member stole the animal. He rode it to the first station during the hours of darkness. There it was secreted and the original thief resumed his ordinary vocation. The first relay on the following night rode throughout the night to the second station, delivering the horse to the second relay station, and possibly at the end of the third night the horse would be 150 miles from its owner.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.
Chicago, Ill., Jan. 2.—Serious damage by rust in four districts of South Argentina gave the wheat market today a decided upturn. May started at 99⅛c to 99⅜c, a gain of ⅛c to ⅜c, and advanced to 99⅝c.

Severe cold, bringing farmers' deliveries northwest down to practically nothing, led to a further advance. There was also a large decrease in the United States visible supply. The close was steady, with May wheat ⅞c net higher, at 99⅝c.

Despite the cold weather, corn rose with wheat. May opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c off and then descended to 63⅞c.

Heavy receipts at Peoria resulted later in a backset in prices. The close was steady with May at 63½c, a net gain of ½c.

Short covering had a bullish effect on oats. May started a shade to ⅛@¼c up at 47⅝c to 47¾c, and climbed to 48⅛c.

Firmness developed in provisions. Initial sales were unchanged to 10c higher, with May delivery $16.50 for pork, $9.40 for lard and $8.62½ for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.
New York, Jan. 2.—A fairly active demand for the leading stocks raised prices moderately in the early trading. The three leaders, Reading, United States Steel and Union Pacific, rose ½ each. Some of the less prominent issues advanced more rapidly. Great Northern Ore Certificates advanced 2 points and Interborough-Metropolitan preferred 1⅝. Canadian Pacific sold today ex-rights to subscribe to the new issue of stock. Its price dropped from 242 at the close Saturday to 234½.
Hesitation, which some of the railroad stocks displayed, was dispelled and the market advanced. Union Pacific was the only standard railroad stock in which the improvement reached a point. Many of the industrials and specialties showed unusual activity. United States Steel moved up 1⅝ with a good effect on all other metal issues.
The demand for stocks broadened sufficiently today to raise prices generally. Trading was more active and operations on the long side of the market were conducted more confidently. Some stocks reached a still higher level in the second hour, especially Reading and Union Pacific. Bonds were steady.
The market closed strong. Stocks which had not figured conspicuously in the earlier advances particularly the Erie and Canadian Pacific were brought forward in the final hour and lifted in substantial fashion. Union Pacific was bid up to 171¼ and there was a heavy accumulation of United States Steel around 69½.

MULEY COW CAUSE OF A LIVELY ROW

Property of Mrs. Hinton, It Wandered Into Mrs. Moore's Yard.

AND WAS LOCKED UP

Rushville, Ind., Jan. 2.—Charges and counter charges, affidavits and more affidavits are the result of a neighborhood quarrel in Richland township, which began last May, when Mrs. Ollie Hinton's muley cow ventured into Mrs. Lizzie Moore's yard, and it will not be ended until the whole matter has an airing in the circuit court. At the present time six affidavits have been filed and two convictions have been made in Justice James Kratzer's court, four more cases will be tried before him, and the two which have been tried have been appealed to the circuit court.

The trouble began May 19, when Mrs. Hinton went over to the home of her neighbor, Mrs. Lizzie Moore, which is about 1,200 feet distant, and demanded her cow, which had wandered away and had been locked up by Mrs. Moore. Mrs. Mary Grenstead, who lives between the Moores and the Hintons, went to the Moore home and became involved. She took sides with Mrs. Moore, and caustic remarks were passed back and forth for a few minutes. But Mrs. Hinton got her cow back.

The trouble was agitated and the neighbors refused to speak. It was exaggerated until Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Grenstead came to the city last week and each filed an affidavit against Mrs. Hinton, charging profanity on May 19. Mrs. Hinton pleaded not guilty before Justice Kratzer and was tried and fined one cent and costs in each case. The trials only served to make matters worse, and Mrs. Hinton has taken an appeal to the circuit court from the justice's court.

After she appealed from the two decisions of the justice, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Grenstead came back with two more affidavits, each charging that Mrs. Hinton threatened to kill them as an outgrowth of the original quarrel over the cow. These cases will be heard by Justice Kratzer.

Then Mrs. Hinton filed two affidavits in Justice Kratzer's court herself. One of them is against Mrs. Mary Grenstead for profanity and the other is against Wallace Moore, the husband of Mrs. Lizzie Moore, who filed two of the charges against her. Mrs. Hinton told the prosecutor that Moore caught her by the wrist one day as she was passing his house and gripped it so tightly that it was badly bruised.

TEMPLE THEATER

There is much to commend the bill at the Temple theater this week but for the unusual and the unique, Mlle. Alaska and her trained cats take the lead. It is hardly believable but these pussy cats do some wonderful things, so wonderful that they are interesting even if the cat is not one's favorite of domestic animals. But for cute and clever tricks these trained felines have a list that is quite astonishing. Those who have only seen cats climb a tree and then stay there and yowl for hours because afraid to come down, will enjoy watching the courageous trained puss who climbs a pole and then dives down like a trained athlete into a blanket below. Other good things are an act by Graham and Randall which is more entertaining than its name, "A Gay Old Boy;" another playlet by Van and Pearce, called "Get a License;" a trio of music and comedy that is very entertaining by Klein, Ott and Nicholson; a lot of singing and impersonating by Andrew Tombes and some skillful work on the horizontal bar and similar acrobatic stunts by the Ellett brothers make a program varied and excellent.

URGE MAIL TRAIN OCEAN TO OCEAN

Supporters Say It Would Make Less Hazardous Work of Clerks.

WOULD SAVE A DAY

Los Angeles, Jan. 2.—Fifty business men were told how an exclusive transcontinental mail train would save a day in the delivery of mail in Los Angeles. They were also instructed as to the duties and responsibilities of railway mail clerks and other postoffice employes, about their request for higher pay, better facilities and adequate expense account and indirectly were asked to give their aid in influencing congress to remedy the conditions described.

The occasion was an "eductional banquet" given by the Eighth Division Railway Mail association, which includes California, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and Hawaiian Islands. P. E. Vestal, president of the organization, explained the public interest in a better and more efficient railway mail service, and said that the paramount issues now involved present one of higher salaries, a demand for an adequate expense allowance instead of the present allowance of $1 a day after ten hours away from home, and safe and sound mail cars. In this connection representatives of the railroad lines are now planning the adoption of a standard mail car to be all steel, or steel underframe construction.

"We have passed a crisis," said Carl E. McStay, who acted as toastmaster. "One side contended that labor was oppressed, which was denied by men representing the highest and best civic affairs. Safe and sane organization for betterment of men or service will be as much approved in Los Angeles as any other city in the country. I understand that some postoffice employes who have organized are considering affiliating with an organization outside the service. You cannot do yourself any good by putting yourselve in the hands of the walking delegate."

J. M. Hollowell, Ernest Robinson and R. D. Newby read papers describing features of the railway mail service. Mr. Newby advancing strong reasons for the proposed trans-continental mail train and pointing out that the service could be had at even less expense than the present system of handling the mail on the three trans-continental lines centering here, with practically absolute certainty of a full day's time in the delivery of mail, occasioned largely by the fact that the through train would arrive earlier than the trains that now bring the mail frequently too late for distribution on the day of arrival.
